Silence and Fog Blanket Fate of Sea Fliers

WILLIAMS, YANCEY FLY TOWARD ROME IN UTTER SILENCE

Radioless Plane Passes Out of Sight in Heavy Fogs Off Maine—No Vessels Sight Plane.

CALIFORNIA FLIERS NEARING RECORD

Endurance Mark To Fall This Afternoon—Frozen Wastes Hold Chicago Ship Bound for Berlin.

New York, July 8.—(United News.) The American monoplane Pathfinder was far out at sea tonight, presumably having "turned the corner" some 1,000 miles from the Maine coast a few hours after nightfall as it sped eastward over the Atlantic ocean en route to Rome.

If all went well aboard the green and silver monoplane in which Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey left the misty beach at Old Orchard, Maine, at 7:45 eastern standard time this morning, the single-engine plane should have cleared the fog area extending far out from the coast and have been some 1,400 miles along on their 4,800-mile trip to the Eternal City shortly before midnight. They should reach Rome early Wednesday morning.

The first break in the course of the Pathfinder was scheduled to come before 8 p. m., eastern standard time, when it should have reached the "turning point" or ship lane junction from which point the fliers planned to turn from slightly southeast due eastward towards Cape Ortega, Spain.

The study plane in which Williams and Yancey put their trust was forced to fly through dense fog for many miles before reaching the "turning point" and it is probable that the fliers altered their route considerably to find better weather conditions. When last sighted more than 75 miles off Portland lightship they were steadily gaining great altitude to keep above the fog.

Silence and the fog blanketed the silver and green monoplane and for hours there was no vessel at sea which saw its trim wings and dark fuselage as Williams and Yancey went about "the day's work" which they hope will carry them to the Italian capital sometime Wednesday morning.

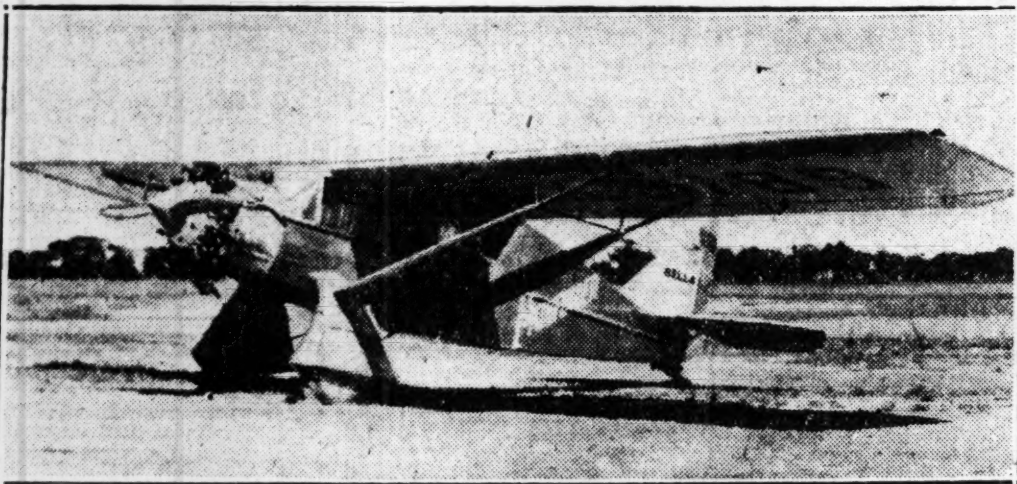

Speed of 115 M. P. H.

Although Williams announced that he expected to cover about 4,800 miles on the flight to Rome the actual distance over his plotted course is considerably less. According to expert figures based on the plotted course of the plane, the distance is 4,232 miles. The direct air-line route from Old Orchard to Rome—which would be the distance officially recorded for a successful flight—is 4,033 miles. Allowing for ordinary deviations, the Pathfinder should cover somewhere between Williams' estimate and the plotted course.

Latest word of the Pathfinder's progress was brought back to shore by Lieutenant Leonard M. Melka, who, with two companions in a big amphibian plane, conveyed the Rome-bound fliers to the coast.

FOUR ARE INJURED IN COAST TREMBLOR

Los Angeles and Suburbs Shaken by Quake; Buildings Sway in City. Property Damaged.

Los Angeles, July 8.—(P.)—A strong earth movement of several seconds duration shook Los Angeles and suburbs within a radius of 30 miles at 8:45 a. m. today, injuring four persons at Santa Fe Springs, oil town, and doing property damage estimated at $50,000 at East Whittier, a suburb of this city.

Although large buildings in Los Angeles swayed several inches during the tremor and the tower of the city hall was reported to have moved back and forth some 12 inches, no damage was done here. The quake was reported extremely severe by residents in the southwest section of the city.

Felt Along Coast.

Coast line communities including Long Beach, Hermosa Beach and Santa Monica felt the tremor more than did the inland towns of Pasadena and Glendale. At Long Beach considerable excitement was caused as it was the first quake of any consequence that could be recalled there. Employees of the Long Beach Press-Telegram were getting out the day's first edition when the tremor came and there was a rush for exits. The shock lasted about 15 seconds.

The epicenter of the tremor appeared to be in Santa Fe Springs. Those injured there were two children, caught under a washing machine overturned by the shock, and two oil workers, struck by objects falling from oilfield derricks. Two flowing oil wells were stopped by the quake.

School Wall Caves.

A portion of the East Whittier school wall caved in and the structure was shifted on its foundation. Two residences there were wrecked by falling chimneys. Plate glass windows in some Whittier stores were cracked.

Within an hour after the first shock a lesser tremor was felt in Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles city hall is of "quakeproof" construction. It was built so that a sway of the tower 18 inches in each cardinal direction is provided for. The 1,800-pound chandelier in the rotunda of the building swung on an arc of 12 inches during the disturbance.

Elevator operators at the top of the building reported the elevators shook and rattled so much that passengers were forced to hold to the side of the cars for support.

Widow Plans To Aid Youth Who Shot Her

Mrs. Sanders Says She Has Forgiven Boy Who Killed Her Husband.

Mrs. Warren Sanders, widowed victim of Hayward Sanders, her 18-year-old brother-in-law, who last Thursday night killed her husband and wounded her in a drunken fury, Monday night told a Constitution reporter that she had forgiven the boy and will "do anything in her power to help him in his fight for freedom."

As she lay at Grady hospital, recovering from two bullet wounds received in a vain attempt to shield her husband from his brother's deadly fusillade, Mrs. Sanders told of the killing and the events that led up to it in explanation of her stand.

Her husband, while he was kind enough to his brother while sober, was inclined when drunk to beat and abuse the boy, she said, and on the fatal Fourth of July night when the two men returned to the home at 616 McDonald street, where all three lived, it was apparent that Hayward had been beaten by his older brother. According to Mrs. Sanders both men had been drinking heavily and a few minutes after they had entered the home Hayward, in a drunken rage, seized a pistol and shot his brother. As Mrs. Sanders rushed between the two men she received bullets in the right arm and shoulder.

The shooting but returned about 30 minutes later and was arrested at that time. He at first denied any knowledge of the crime but finally confessed and blamed his intoxication and his brother's brutality for the act. He is being held at police headquarters pending presentation of his case to the Fulton county grand jury today.

The widow says that as soon as she is able to leave the hospital she will aid him in obtaining counsel and will give him "every help within her power."

FORMER ATLANTA MAIL PILOT KILLED

Thomas W. Gurley, 26, Is Burned to Death as Plane Crashes in East on Experimental Trip.

Thomas W. Gurley, 26, air mail pilot for Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., and until two months ago on the company's Atlanta-Jacksonville line, was burned to death Monday night when his plane crashed at Pine Valley, N. J., according to news dispatches.

Gurley was on an experimental flight from College Park, Md., to Hadley Field, N. J., testing a radio-equipped mail plane, when his ship caught fire in mid-air and the flier crashed to a fiery death according to word received by Pitcairn officials.

Gurley's regular work was flying the mail "shuttle" plane between Washington and New York. He left Hoover field, in Virginia, about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon in a radio-equipped Pitcairn Mailwing and was in no distress, it was reported, when he passed College Park, Md., and tested a radio beacon control.

At Pine Valley, however, Gurley was sighted by observers about 300 feet from the ground. The pilot was side-slipping steeply, it was reported, in an effort to extinguish flames which had enveloped his engine, from which clouds of black smoke were pouring. Apparently overcome by the fumes, Gurley was unable to right his plane and it crashed into the ground. He was knocked unconscious by the impact and was burned to death before he could be extricated from the wreckage.

Gurley was one of the most popular young pilots in the Pitcairn service and was known as a safe and conservative flier at all times. J. Ben Faulkner, manager for Pitcairn at Candler field, said Monday night that the young pilot's death was a severe loss to the company. "Gurley had never had a crack-up during the time he was associated with us," Mr. Faulkner said.

ANNEXATION BILL TO BE INTRODUCED BY LUTHER STILL

Resolutions Passed at Mass Meeting in East Point Object to Present Referendum Method.

HEAD OF DOCTORS HITS AT DRY LAWS

Dr. Wm. S. Thayer Says Prohibition of Drink, Dress, Religion Has Passed All Reason.

Portland, Ore., July 8.—(P.)—An attack on what he termed the over-regulation of human life by national legislation restricting drink, dress and religion was made by Dr. William S. Thayer, of Baltimore, president of the American Medical Association, in his address opening the annual convention of the organization here today.

"There are lengths beyond which a majority may not go. This is no longer republican government—it is tyranny. For the immediate concentrated mass action in time of war, such government is necessary. We accept it; we demand it. But in time of peace we insist on certain local and individual liberties which we regard as rights."

Tyrannical Laws.

"The congress of the United States is not made up of men who desire to establish a tyranny. But in certain ways, against the warnings of wise and temperate men they have passed laws that may justly be regarded as tyrannical."

"As a nation," said Dr. Thayer, "we have of recent years set a rather sorry example in the passage of ill-considered and intolerant prescriptions and prohibitions which, when applied to the country at large, interfere with personal liberty."

Dr. Thayer said that prohibitive laws must be "proper enough when enacted in certain localities where they represent the desire of the majority." He said the government of the American Medical Association is patterned after that of the nation. He urged his audience not to follow "the rather sad example of reckless and intemperate law making."

Sacred Rights.

Concluding his address, Dr. Thayer said: "When in a country like ours, the national government attempts to legislate for the whole country as to what we may or may not eat or drink, as to how we may dress, as to our religious beliefs or as to what we may or may not read, this is to interfere with the rights which are sacred to every English speaking man."

A resolution, growing out of Dr. Thayer's address, is expected to be considered tomorrow.

The plan for medical centers owned and operated by local medical societies where persons of moderate means could receive medical aid at a cost in keeping with their ability to pay was made by Dr. M. L. Harris, of Chicago, president-elect, in addressing the convention. The proposed centers, he explained, should be in the nature of clinics, owned and controlled by the profession and should include hospitals as a part of the general organization.

LIQUOR RAID SLAYERS MOVED; MOB IS FEARED

Oklahoma City, July 8.—(P.)—Fearing possible mob violence in Tecumseh, officials today brought W. W. Thompson, federal prohibition enforcement officer, and three "undercover" workers, Jeff D. Harris, Tom Little and John D. Williams, charged with the killing of James Harris in a liquor raid July 4, to Oklahoma county jail here.

Jeff Harris also is charged with the killing of Oscar Lowrey, brother-in-law of James Harris, who was wounded fatally in the same raid.

The four will be kept here until tomorrow when they will be arraigned at Tecumseh.

CHINESE ENTRY IN U. S. PHILIPPINES BARRED BY ORDER

Washington, July 8.—(P.)—The state department today made public an executive order restricting the entrance of all persons from China or the Philippine islands into the United States, except under conditions prescribed by the secretary of the treasury, as a result of the continuance of an epidemic of cerebro spinal meningitis in those sections.

TRUNKS PASSED BY PORT UNDER OFFICIAL LABEL

Federal Agents Override Protests of Lawyers for Vice Consul and Break Trunks' Seals.

WOMAN BLAMES DOPE ON FRIENDS

Tells Officers She Sent Luggage Through Port Not Knowing Drug Was Being Smuggled.

San Francisco, July 8.—(P.)—Opium valued at approximately $1,000,000 was found late today by United States customs officials who smashed open trunks and suitcases belonging to Mrs. Ying Kuo, wife of the Chinese vice consul in San Francisco.

Three thousand tins of opium were found in seven large wardrobe trunks and four suitcases, which had been brought to this city from China by the vice consul's wife.

Ying Kuo, the vice consul, and his wife were present as the customs men opened the trunks and discovered the contraband.

Seals Are Broken.

Continuing the investigation over the protests of Mrs. Kuo's attorneys, Customs Agents John W. Smith and Robert Harris broke the seals which under usual procedure passed the contents of the trunks which were held on arrival here from China.

In addition to the opium, the officers said they discovered hundreds of pieces of expensive silks and fine furs, upon which no duty had been paid.

Three pieces of baggage which Mrs. Kuo claimed were her own personal belongings, were not searched, but were sealed awaiting word from Washington as to their disposal tomorrow.

The search, officials said, culminated in a two-year investigation by Smith and special treasury agents, and was said to have some connection with the arrest and conviction of William Ross, former clerk in the Hawaiian United States court, and two wealthy Honolulu Chinese.

The search was conducted by permission of the state department and word was awaited here by the collector of customs as to the disposition of Mrs. Kuo and her husband, who arrived on the scene as officials were opening the trunks.

Mrs. Kuo professed ignorance of the contents of the trunks, which she said were the property of friends in China, who influenced her to use her diplomatic privileges to bring baggage into this country.

At their instances, she said, she procured the certificates of exemption.

Traffic Count by Ballot To Be Made in Atlanta Today

A traffic count, designed to determine how Atlantans travel downtown each morning, will begin at 8:30 o'clock this morning under a special committee of the mayor's traffic commission, seeking means to relieve congestion in the downtown areas.

A corps of Boy Scouts will be stationed at various points throughout the city and each person who enters office buildings and business houses will be asked to tear off a slip on a ballot which will be furnished by ballot box attendants. The slip will indicate the transportation means used in getting into the heart of the city. When the balloting is completed, a count will be made to determine the results.

J. P. Allen, prominent Atlanta merchant, is head of the committee in charge of the drive.

The ballot will indicate six different modes of reaching the city, as follows:

By automobile, parked on street; by automobile, parked on lot; on foot; by street car and by motor bus.

Each person is asked to cast only one ballot although they may visit several places where the count is in progress during the day. This is to prevent repeating, as only one record of how a person reaches the city is desired.

C. C. Whitaker, general chairman of the committee, issued a statement calling on Atlantans to cooperate in every way possible to make the count a success and as representative as possible.

"I believe all Atlantans want to improve traffic conditions," he said Monday, "so that they may be able to move more rapidly and safely from one point to another and to make the use of our streets more convenient for the public at large. The result of the count Tuesday should provide information which will make such improvement possible."

A list of places where the count will be taken is given below: Chamberlin-Johnson-Dubose Company, J. M. High Company, Keely Company, Grant's, S. H. Kress Company, 73 Whitehall S. W.; S. H. Kress Company, 43 Whitehall S. W.; F. W. Woolworth Company, Whitehall street; Lane's drug store (A. A. Whitehall), Atlanta National Bank building, Rich's, Hurt building, Atlanta and Lowry National Bank, Haverly Furniture Company, Parks-Chambers Company, King Hardware Company, George Mose Clothing Company, Healey building, Fourth National Bank building, Jacobs' pharmacy, Fulton National Bank, Electric building, 101 Marietta Street building, F. C. Candler building, Davison-Paxon Company, Lane's Henry Grady drug store, J. P. Allen Company, Atlanta Gas Company.

ELKS ENJOY DAY AT VARIOUS FORMS OF AMUSEMENT

Los Angeles, July 8.—(AP)—Golf, baseball, bowling and trap shooting plus 1,500 automobiles for those who wanted to see southern California's sights kept 100,000 or more visiting members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and their families amused today.

Tonight the 1929 national convention was officially opened with Murray Hubert, the grand exalted ruler, and Mayor John C. Porter, of Los Angeles, taking leading parts.

Four automobiles bringing representatives of the Elks magazine, official publication of the fraternity, arrived this morning after a cross-country tour in the interests of Elksdom. Athletic tournaments started today will continue through the entire convention week.

Among the tournaments were the lodge's 54-hole national golf tournament, which got under way at 8 a. m. The first day's golf program called for 18 holes of handicap medal play.

PAROLED HIGHWAY ROBBER FACING NEW CHARGES

Memphis, Tenn., July 8.—(AP)—Flint S. Williams, whose state penitentiary sentence of 10 years for highway robbery was commuted last year was docketed here today on charges of shooting with intent to kill, parole violation, carrying a pistol and flight from justice. Two negro women, a hit and run driver's victim and several pedestrians complained that he and a companion, James Castelvich, made a race track and sliding gallery last night of Beale avenue, principal thoroughfare of Memphis' downtown.

In 1925 Williams and "Jackie" Strait, the first woman called "bob-haired bandit" by local newspapers, invaded the city's chief business street and committed five robberies. Both were convicted.

Six charges ranging from driving while intoxicated to shooting with intent to kill, were placed against Castelvich. Police reports indicated much commotion but no injuries in the wake of the hunt last night.

ALWAYS CAREFUL, ARRANGES PLANS BEFORE SUICIDE

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Always a man to make careful plans, Hermann Grossman, a Bronx photographer, who found life at 65 "too tough a game," committed suicide today by inhaling gas.

On Saturday he called on his friend and neighbor, Charles Bore, an undertaker, told him that he was going away because he was getting old and life in the city was "too tough a game for an old man." And then casually asked him what he charged for a funeral and cremation.

In the first mail this morning Bore received a note from Grossman with a check for $140 enclosed. In the same mail police got a letter directing them to look for the body in his studio.

When they arrived, they found he had left the downstairs door unlocked, and on the table was a note for his landlady with a key to the studio enclosed.

Alsation Wins Freedom; Wounded Paris Judge

Paris, July 8.—(AP)—Georges Benoit, Alsation automomist, who attempted to assassinate Prosecuting Attorney Fachot last December, was acquitted by a jury at the court of assizes today.

Benoit's acquittal followed a plea in his behalf by his intended victim who told the jury last Saturday that if he were a juror he would return a verdict of not guilty.

"Why strike down the arm while the head remains in the shadows," Fachot said, "Benoit wanted to kill me, but his leaders wanted to dismember France, the latter was much the greater sin and crime."

Then turning to the accused man, Fachot added:

"Benoit, I forgive you. You have been naive. I ask you when you return to your home simply to be a good and patriotic Frenchman."

The shooting was an outgrowth of Fachot's prosecution of Alsation automomists in the Colmar court.

P. O. RECEIPTS DECREASE

Fifty Selected Cities Show Monthly Decline.

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—Postal receipts of 50 selected cities throughout the country for June as announced today by the department showed a decrease of 2.37 per cent under those for June, 1928.

The department statement pointed out that there were 26 business days in the month a year ago as compared with 25 for this year, and that on a basis of day for day receipts for the two years there is an increase of 1.54 per cent this year.

Total receipts for the 50 cities were $29,279,560.85 while for the corresponding month in 1928 they aggregated $29,960,217.54.

GEORGIA HAIRDRESSERS ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Two-Score Beauty Culturists Approve Creation of State Board of Examiners.

Approximately two-score hairdressers and beauty culturists from almost every Georgia city met Monday at the Ansley hotel to form the Georgia Hairdressers' Association and to approve the creation of a state board of examiners for all persons desiring to enter the trade.

The association brought into existence at this meeting is designed to protect the interests of the trade and its patrons and to aid in the securing of higher standards of service, according to the officers.

Mrs. Sarah A. Blake, of Atlanta, was made president of the new organization and Adolphus, of Atlanta, Mrs. Ethel Davis, of Macon; Mrs. L. L. Graham, of Columbus, and Mrs. Sarah Leopold, of Savannah, were elected vice presidents, ranking in the order named. Mrs. Nellie Edwards, of Atlanta, was made secretary; Mrs. Z. Webb, of Atlanta, financial secretary, and A. Widmayer, of Atlanta, treasurer. A. G. Scott and C. J. Rich, of Atlanta, and M. E. Powell, of Rome, were selected as trustees.

Following the organization and election of officers a bill providing for the creation of a state examining board of three members was read and approved by the body. This bill is to be submitted to the present state legislature in the near future, officers said.

4,000 NEGRO PYTHIANS ARRIVE AT WAYCROSS

Waycross, Ga., July 8.—(AP)—Approximately 4,000 negro Knights of Pythias and their guests arrived here today for the opening session of their state convention tonight. The conference will continue for four days. Tents have been erected to take care of the large crowds. The uniform rank is holding its annual encampment in connection with the convention.

The convention was welcomed to Waycross on the part of the white citizens by Hon. David M. Parker.

BUILDING COLLAPSES

Score of Workmen Escape Injury.

Little Rock, Ark., July 8.—(AP)—A 40-foot section of the three-story Hegarty building at the corner of Fifth and Main streets, in the center of the city's business district, collapsed late today just after a score or more of workmen engaged in remodeling the structure ceased work.

No one was injured, but the offices of the Union Labor Bulletin, a newspaper, on the third floor were practically destroyed.

GENERAL FELAND ORDERED TO FRISCO FOR MARINE CORPS

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—Brigadier-General Logan Feland, of the marine corps, has been ordered to San Francisco, to assume the duties of the late Major-General Eli K. Cole, commanding general of the department of the Pacific, who died on July 4. General Feland will be detached from the headquarters of the marine corps on July 11, and will arrive at San Francisco about July 20.

TAX DEFENDERS NAMED

Carlton Selects Davis and Reaves for Legal Battle.

Tallahassee, Fla., July 8.—(AP)—Governor Doyle E. Carlton announced today that Attorney-General Fred H. Davis, and O. K. Reaves, of Tampa, former circuit judge and law partner of the governor, would defend the constitutionality of his tax laws, which are being attacked in the supreme court and circuit court for Leon county.

The selection of Mr. Davis and Reaves was made following a conference with the attorney-general today. Under the constitution, the attorney-general is the defending counsel of all state government departments.

HITS A MOUNTAIN, THEN SHARES A CABIN WITH A RATTLESNAKE.

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Folks tell me I've got the name of "Mountain Buster" down along the southern end of our route. I hit a couple of mountains, all right, but I guess they didn't suffer much. And I came off pretty lucky myself.

The latest time it happened, last fall, I was coming north from Atlanta, Ga., bound for Spartanburg, S. C., with a mild 20-mile quattering wind. Without my realizing it, the wind turned into a 70-mile gale, taking me 50 miles off my course, when the rain blotted out the last beacon before I should have hit the Spartanburg field. It was the same storm which Treatment.

"I never see a weak, run-down woman that I don't feel like going up to her and telling her about this wonderful Sargon treatment."

"All my troubles were caused by a disordered stomach. I had such mothering spells at times it seemed like I couldn't live through them; I'd just have to gasp for breath. Pains in my neck and shoulders, and in my right side and back, just under my shoulder blade, caused me a lot of suffering. Sick headaches made my days miserable. I was always bilious and constipated. My tongue was coated and I always had a bad taste in my mouth. I was nervous and fidgety at night, got very little sleep, and felt wretched all through the day. I lost weight and had such little strength and energy, that my housework, and nearly everything else, was a drag to me.

"My husband, who had gained twenty pounds, and had been brought back to health with the Sargon treatment, advised me to take it. I did, and right from the very start I felt better. If the treatment had been made especially for my case it couldn't have done more for me. Every ache and pain in my body is gone. I have a wonderful appetite now, sleep just fine, and my energy is back again. Every sign of stomach trouble is gone, and I feel better than I have in years."

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills ended my biliousness and constipation, without the least nausea or sickness of any kind. My tongue has cleared, my headaches are over, I have more strength, and am so well and strong. I just feel like a different person."

The above statement was recently made by Mrs. Fannie Harden, of 704 14th Ave., Phenix City, Alabama.

Sales of Sargon are setting new records all over the country. The special Sargon representative at Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta St., is explaining the merits of this revolutionary new medicine to hundreds daily. Sargon may also be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

GIRL HELD FOR TORCH MURDER OF HUSBAND

Giant Woman, Accused of Slaying, Admits Killing
Common Law Mate.

Toulon, Ill., July 8.—(P)—Laura Weaver, a 21-year-old woman of great size and strength, was held today for the torch murder of her common law husband, Wilmer T. Kitzelman, 52.

Six feet tall and weighing 230 pounds, the young woman told of strangling Kitzelman, wrapping his body in a quilt, rolling it downstairs, placing it into an automobile and driving into the country where she dumped it by the roadside, poured naphtha over it and then touched a match.

Kitzelman himself was a big man, weighing 200 pounds and her signed confession would have been less plausible were it not for her own size. For several days after the still burning body was found by two farm boys July 1, it remained unidentified. A brother finally made the identification through a set of false teeth.

After two hours' questioning, the woman detailed for county officers the story of her affair with Kitzelman and its ending. Her confession told of her growing disgust with Kitzelman's habit of drinking to excess.

Had Been Drinking.
"He came to our room over the gambling house at Wyoming, Ill., Sunday morning (June 30)," the confession, as related by officers, said. "He had been drinking. He grabbed a chair and tried to strike me with it. I got away from that. Then he tore a mirror from the wall and brought it down on my head. It smashed into a thousand pieces and almost stunned me."

"Finally I got him on the bed and sat watching him an hour. He got up, drank some more and fell back on the bed in a stupor."

"I got some fish line and tied him up, bending him so his chin rested on his knees," she said. "Then I rolled him off the bed, and wrapped the quilt around him, like a bundle. I didn't want to carry such a load down, so I rolled it down the stairs. At the foot of the stairs I picked him up and put him in the back of the coupe."

Drove Out of Town.
She told of driving out of town, of stopping to buy naphtha and of leaving the main road for a little-frequented by-way. Then she continued:

"I took the bundle out and threw it beside the road in some woods. I poured naphtha over it and touched a match. It was blazing hard when I drove away."

That was on Sunday. The next day

Father James T. O'Connor
Victim of Paralysis.

Memphis, Tenn., July 8.—(P)—Father James T. O'Connor, pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, and known to Catholics throughout the south, died here tonight of paralysis. He was 50 years old.

He was born in Penna, Ill. He played baseball on the Penna team of the Three-League, and until his death was an ardent fan and the close friend of many of the game's stars. He was educated for the priesthood at Corpus Christi college, Galesburg, Ill., and Duquesne seminary, Yonkers, New York.

Waupaca, Wis., July 8.—(United News.)—Even though electric utility mergers make for greater economy of operation, the loss to the public is greater than the benefits derived, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska said here today.

Senator Norris, who is living at his summer home at Waupaca, commented at length when told that Henry Ford had been quoted as saying electric utility monopoly was a boon to the common people.

"It is true that in a natural monopoly the linking of various units in a large concern under one management makes for economy, and in no field is this truer than in the electrical utility field," said Senator Norris.

"But human nature is everywhere the same, and when a man gets a monopoly on something he uses it for his own profit without regard to the public benefit. Such would be the case in the electric business for this business or any already made up of a few large groups is extracting a huge toll from the public pocketbook."

"Thus the average rate of the United States is around 7 cents, while government operated utilities in Ontario can make money for the public while they furnish electric energy at less than 2 cents per kilowatt hour."

DEMOCRATS SCENT VICTORY.

Democratic leaders in the congress seem to be agreed upon a policy of fighting the congressional campaign of next year in Indian fashion.

There will be a general attack all along the national front, but the party candidates will be left free to make their own issues in their states and districts, as local conditions may suggest to them.

That seems the wisest strategy for the off-year campaign, because it is evident that the Houston national platform is practically out of date as an acceptable creed for all democrats in every section of the republic.

Therefore it will rest behind the scenes. The present signs point to a campaign to win senate and house seats upon the two issues of farm relief and the tariff that the republicans may enact either in the pending special or the December regular session.

It is already predicted that the federal farm board, not yet organized, will not be able to do much in the way of practical farm relief before the congressional campaign gets under way, and therefore accumulating farm distress and discontent will keep the relief problem open as a political asset.

In the middle and far west that will work strongly in the interest of democratic candidates.

The troubles of the tariff makers are increasing as their hearings of interested elements continue and the democrats are growing more certain daily that the tariff bill which the republicans will enact will react tremendously against them in all parts of the country.

The proposed democratic program is not a new one. It has been used in other campaigns, having similar circumstances, with signal success. In the absence of a militant and powerful party leadership the strategy of state and district candidatorial responsibility is the one that promises the largest and surest success.

It is foregone that the southern states and districts will again come into the party line almost as solidly as ever in the past. The fights to supplant republican senators and representatives will be made militantly in the other sections of the Union. In each of them the democratic candidates will take full advantage of local conditions and sentiments respecting the two big issues of tariff and farm relief, with brightening prospects that upon them the present majority of the house can be reversed, and possibly that in the senate also.

The events of the winter regular session will largely predicate the fights all along the national line and if the democratic leadership in both houses show wisdom and skill, the prospects of the party winning the election next year will be convincing.

STOP A COSTLY WASTE.

The annual interest account of the state, revealed by Governor Hardman in his message to the general assembly, will be a big item of news to most of the citizens of the state. Few of them have realized that the poor financing of the government by past legislatures has produced such a surprising waste of the taxpayers' money as that reported by the governor.

The public will make sharp demand upon the present legislature to thoroughly reform the financial affairs of the commonwealth.

All informed business men know that there is absolutely no excuse or defense for the predicament in which the state stands today. The noblest, brother huge deficit, the unbalanced budget, the constant temporary loans and the unnecessary wastage of interest costs, are not only humiliating to good, sensible citizens, but they are tending to depress the credit of the state with its own people and in the money markets of the nation.

The present financial condition of this rich and resourceful state is intolerable and no higher and more sacred duty rests upon the general assembly than to get promptly to work, as Governor Hardman advises, to wipe out the deficit, make continuous loans unnecessary and provide a budget system that will keep the treasury always able to meet current demands with cash on the counter. Such a system is not only good government business, but is profitable economy for the taxpayers of the state. It will insure an immediate saving of a quarter of a million dollars of interest wastage to the people, and to do that is worth some legislative trouble.

CHARLES I. RYAN.

In the prime of his life, and taken at the period of his greatest usefulness, the death of Charles I. Ryan is one of those inexplicable dispensations of Providence that emphasizes the mysterious ways of the Master.

The representative attendance at the funeral of Mr. Ryan yesterday bore striking evidence of the esteem in which he was held by his fellow citizens, and the general expression of regret at the news of his death gave universal testimony to his worth as a friend, his ability as a business man, and his character as a citizen.

Mr. Ryan was the son of an Atlanta pioneer. He was one of the few men of his age who was born in Atlanta, where he resided all his life.

Entering the banking business as a boy his ability assured him steady promotion, until at the time of his death he was senior vice president of the Fourth National bank of this city. He was regarded throughout the country as a banker of exceptional genius.

Always loyal to his friends, unremitting in his attention to business duties and deeply interested in everything that affected the welfare of his native city, his life was a splendid example of what can be achieved by a boy who, entering business with ability and willingness to work as his chief capital, rises to the top through sheer recognition of merit.

He will be missed by his associates, by his friends and family and by his fellow citizens.

FACTS HARD TO DODGE.

The bureau of internal revenue has issued its report of collections of income and miscellaneous taxes by the federal government for the fiscal year 1929, based on telegraphic reports of June 29.

The collections of income tax in the state of Georgia were $13,501,272.73 and of miscellaneous taxes $553,409.67, making a total from the state of $14,054,682.40, or $504,737.37 more than in the previous fiscal year of 1928. For the calendar year of 1928, ending last December 31, the collections of income tax alone from individuals and corporations in Georgia amounted to $1,290,351.50 more than in the calendar year of 1927.

These official figures represent actual cash paid into the federal treasury on reduced rates of taxation from previous schedules and cannot be impeached. They represent the growing profitability of individual and corporation activities in the state and certainly present a formidable answer to all the pitiful poor-mouth demagogues that represent the people of the state in a horribly impoverished condition, ground to the earth by oppressive taxation, and unable to carry the burden of supplying the money necessary to run the state on common business principles. When anyone puts up that sort of jeremiad, stuff the above federal figures in his mail and ask him to explain them off the state!

Wall Street cannot understand the acclaim given Bobby Jones when he goes below par.

With fireworks, firecrackers and firewater banned on the national holiday, how in heck can they call it other than an insane Fourth?

Senator George says the new tariff hits the farmer. Well, it had to hit some one and the farmer is used to it.

With the legislature in session and the tariff in the air the taxpayer is wondering what the next few weeks will bring forth.

Tampa raised $10,000 for the Mediterranean fly and $10,000 for the Chilean fliers.

The Duval county delinquent tax list took 32 pages of the Jacksonville Times-Union and 99 per cent delinquents listed were "unknown."

That's what we call taxation without representation.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

The Annual Laugh.

The people of Montmartre just had their annual laugh at the expense of tourists and American residents. Great red flames were seen to shoot up from all sides of Sacre Coeur at 10:30 o'clock one night. The mighty domes of the colossal church were wreathed in fire. Here was a spectacle for the blasé transient and one even to thrill the world-wide salesfolk of the Place du Tertre. From blocks around they came to see the destruction of one of France's largest churches. Many of them called the Paris fire departments. And all the while the Montmartrois watched the spectacle in awe. Questioned as to why they did not help fight the flames, they slyly replied that the firemen could do the job. In fact it seemed the only ones to be bothered over the blaze were the visiting Americans and British. And they were none too mildly embarrassed when the situation was explained. The great red flames diminished in size after a few minutes and the thousands of people saw that what first looked like a fire was only a flagrant really was only part of the celebration known as the Fete du Sacre Coeur, a biennial event of Montmartre. The building was old and lined in a red phosphorescent substance that glowed merrily for just half an hour. Of course even if you know all about it coming you, being a polite foreigner, act greatly surprised and agitated just the same. That's part of the fun.

Gloomy Dean Gets Gay.

The Very Rev. William H. Inge, the "gloomy dean of St. Paul," was in a skittish mood when indulging in a little frivolous desecration on modern habits and customs before the Sunday league. The dean was old and an arm's length those not very whole-souled people. Then turning to modern fashions, Dean Inge, after referring to the "habit of a nun" as a covering up, observed, amidst laughter, that people who are very refined—like the even-letters covered up the limbs—not the legs of their pianos. But since the war ladies have, I believe, raised the standard of revolt. They are not too much covered up now. In fact, to quote a half-inch attributed to a clergyman: "Half an inch, half an inch shorter. Same skirts for mother and daughter; when the wind blows, Everything shows. Both what should and what had oughter."

Production Falls Slightly.

According to the figures of the leading German publishing houses, literary production in the Reich shows a slight falling off in 1928 as compared with the previous year. In 1927 there were 31,028 new books and new editions published. The number in 1928 was 27,794. Of these new works belles-lettres, as usual, took the lead, 4,491 schoolbooks following with 2,281. Books on religion, theology and mythology were 2,088 in number, and those on economics, political and social subjects about the same. Technical works amounted to 1,607, and those upon law to 1,662. In 1928 new books for boys and girls were 1,548, and 488 for children. Scholarly books and those on sport have fallen off considerably, but those on art, music, the drama and modern languages have increased. Nearly 2,000, while of the classics only 134 were published. Notwithstanding efforts made to restrict the translation of books, these have not retrograded. On the contrary, they have increased 16.6 per cent during the last year.

The Same Old Story—Told Again and Again, But the Blind Will Not See

Editor Constitution: While visiting your beautiful city during the E. A. convention, we were guests at one of its more modest homes whose genuine hospitality and charming hostess we would not have exchanged for the most palatial hotel in the city.

We planned a leisurely trip through your beautiful mountain region. At the advice of an Atlanta gentleman, we came up through your wonderful Neel's Gap, of whose existence we did not even know, to Hairsview, then across to the eastward over Route 2, a wonderful trip; but our pleasure was spoiled when we reached the Blue Ridge divide where a heavy shower had made the treacherous clay road a quagmire and we had to put on the chains and give all our attention to crawling through the mud and slick.

We had the same experience two weeks ago coming through Georgia from Greenville, S. C.

This brings me to the point of this letter, that while your highway engineers had done a marvelous job in laying out and building these roads, they have only laid a foundation and until they are hard-surfaced, the roads will not be the asset to Georgia they should be, for they can be made an asset that will quickly repay the investment.

I am fairly familiar with the roads of New England and New York, all of these states are committed to hard-surfaced roads as a distinct asset and investment.

With the exception of Profile Route, the Presidential Range, snow-capped Mount Washington, Winnepesaukee and other lakes, which are local characteristics, your mountains are more beautiful, your passes and gorges beyond compare. You also have advantages the north has not and cannot have, a practically open season for the hunt and the absence of insect pests such as black flies and mosquitoes which make life miserable up there.

I am Boston born and bred, a New Englander to the core, a hard working businessman of mature years, and a taxpayer.

I do not want hard roads for the sake of searching over them at railroad speed but so that I can drive safely and sanely and enjoy to the full your unsurpassed scenery and attractions.

I thank you, sir, for your space, and of course you are at liberty to make such use of this letter as you see fit.

It Is Cheaper to Feed a Cow on Hay, But You Won't Get Much Milk

By Robert Quillen

Capital, as everybody knows, is timid. That means, in practice, that men who have money are afraid to spend it to develop their business when trouble is in sight. When they quit spending, money quits circulating. Workers are idle. Times are hard.

What, then, is the foundation of prosperity? Spending. Keeping money in circulation.

A nation of good spenders is a busy and prosperous nation. The thrift of our fathers kept the people poor.

In backward sections of America a similar thrift is practiced still. The small merchant or craftsman washes his own car, paints his own garage, does his own plumbing, mends his own roof. If he is a true penny-pincher, he cuts the hair of his children and mends their shoes.

Thus he hopes to get rich by denying his neighbors a share of his earnings. But his penny serves only to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs.

His neighbors follow his example, each determined to keep all he can and give the other as little as possible, and all alike live from hand to mouth—primitive, miserly, selfish, poverty-stricken and unprogressive.

Thus our fathers lived, and while they sewed on patches they scolded the spendthrifts who made America rich.

Employers, who once hoped to make profits by keeping wages low, discovered that men who earn much are prone to spend much—that much spending increases demand—that increased demand speeds up the machinery and increases the profits.

The more Peter buys of Paul, the more Paul can buy of Peter. That is the explanation of our prosperity.

The poor man who pays no insurance and saves nothing for old age or disaster is a plain sucker; but the more we consume as a people the more we have, and the true economy is to keep every dollar on the move.

Checks, drafts, notes, invoices, bills of lading—these are the currency of commerce, and they represent a twenty-year bond is economic folly; but if the bonds are retired in twenty years and the road lasts forty, much is gained.

Installing buying gives luxury to the poor, and is foolish only when the thing bought does not outlast the payments.

While Americans spend to their limit, production will continue and each new day will bring new money to spend.

The poor man who pays no insurance and saves nothing for old age or disaster is a plain sucker; but the more we consume as a people the more we have, and the true economy is to keep every dollar on the move.

Questions and Answers

A. In 1808 by Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston.

Q. What is the "cud" that a cow chews?

A. It is a ball of food which is held in a pouch until the cow is ready to chew it. She brings it into her mouth by muscular action, rechews it, and swallows it into the second stomach, where it goes through the ordinary digestive processes.

Q. Who were the hero and heroine in the picture "The Winkling"?

A. William Desmond was the hero and Eileen Sedgwick the heroine.

Q. Which state has the longest general coast line?

A. Florida.

Q. What are the five largest islands in the world?

A. Australia, 2,974,581 square miles; Greenland, 827,300 square miles; New Guinea, 830,000 square miles; Sumatra, 81,000 square miles; and Baffin Land, 231,000 square miles. Australia is sometimes called an island continent.

Q. Is there an extensive land mass in the vicinity of the South Pole?

A. It is believed by prominent explorers and geographers that there is an extensive land mass in the vicinity of the South Pole, probably as large as Greenland or Alaska, which has not yet been explored.

Q. Where are ostriches native and what kind of food do they eat?

A. They are native in Africa and some parts of southwestern Asia. The common ostrich, or camel bird, is found on the dry open plains and deserts of northern and central Africa (except Egypt) while the ostriches of southern Africa, Somaliland and Asia are called "Arabian ostriches."

Q. What is the practice of issuing checks without having sufficient funds in the bank at the time the checks are issued?

Health Talks

EXAMINATION TIME AGAIN.

A year or more has elapsed since we conducted the last health questionnaire. It was good fun for first class passengers as well as the conductor of the column, but so many excursionists took advantage of the game that I got mad and cancelled further engagements. You know how it is—haven't you ever stopped the paper or felt like it? What irritated me was the calm way these half fare excursionists ordered that the answers be sent to them. That wasn't the purpose of the questionnaire at all. It was intended as a means for readers to show whether they're learning the little lessons in right living that we teach here.

Well, I'm not a vindictive person; I get all set up in a surprising short time, and say or do something atrocious perhaps; but in a few minutes it is all over with and I'm sorry and ashamed of my conduct.

It is examination time again. I suppose we must hold an examination to determine what progress, if any, readers have made in the study of hygiene in the past year. This is all just for fun, you understand. I am again examining, as a general rule, I think school examinations and college examinations as they are usually conducted are a poor sort of diversion, a diversion of attention from the incompetent teaching and the neglect of study in the institution where the demonstration is staged. Of course I cannot object to examinations on this ground where a midterm or final test is the only check the educational authorities have of the student's work.

What is the purpose of this examination? It is to determine the height of absurdity in the elementary and high schools; there, often, enough, a pupil whose class work has been excellent throughout the term flunks the examination, unless some teacher with a bit of common sense "fixes" it. On the other hand, many a pupil who has unmistakably shown his inability in the term is lucky enough to pass with high standing. It is a strange thing that teachers or educators generally sanction the examination absurdity at any rate they seldom make audible protests against the wastefulness and injustice of this archaic custom.

Just for fun, then, here are the questions for the fifth health questionnaire. Send in your answers according to the numbers. Enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address and you will receive the correct answers by mail. The correct answers have been given in this column in the course of the last few weeks. What is the function of the appendix?

2. What is likely to happen if a confirmed ulcer is unable to get his regular physic?

3. What's liver good for?

4. How may one be sure of getting enough lime (calcium)?

5. Is it dangerous to go out in rain cold immediately after a hot bath? Give reason for your answer.

6. What effect has treatment with an infra-red lamp?

7. Is luncheon a growth or deformity?

8. How may a person get tularemia?

9. Should babies eat bananas? Explain your answer.

10. What is it and how is it usually contracted?

public opinion must be taught that this modern servant is in a position similar to that which a new and electric companies some years ago. The people have learned that there can be no one efficient telephone service at a time in a town; only one franchise to a street railway to run down a given street. Such monopolies have come to be recognized and regulated.

Far better to preserve the American position in world communications by permitting mergers and combinations and submitting them to some form of control in the place of the technical forms of competition, than to see the British lion with the tail of that noble beast wrapped around his neck will be a poor perch for the American eagle from which to recover lost leadership in world communications.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

Special Dispatch to The Atlanta Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Hollywood, Cal., July 8.—Movies change in more ways than one. Imagine the gelatinous moguls signing members of the Chicago and Metropolitan opera a few years back!

Today every studio has its contract or its option on some singer of note. And everything from grand opera to musical comedy is being suggested for them. Tito Ruffo's contract puts him in the Charlie Chaplin class—financially. The star about Feodor Chaliapin seems to have died down for a bit, but there is an option on him for $12,000 a week—which rates him with Gloria Swanson and Pola Negri, so far as salary is concerned.

Joe Molter has been chosen by Winfield Sheehan, Mary Gardner thought he was a knockout when he was director of the Chicago Opera Company, so I won't list my feeble attractions very loudly. It matters little in the face of such gigantic preference that he often seemed a vocal wraith to me. He always had to go into second gear to get over his singing hills—if you know what I mean. I like the kind that soar over on high and put plenty of push into it at the same time.

Paul Bern and Irving Thalberg, astute gossies of this crazy industry, are flirting strenuously with a Lawrence Tibbett contract. The idea being to have the Metropolitan baritone sing Cyranos de Bergerac, with a New York composer writing the music to order. (Hollywood is like that these days; not interested in any real music, but in words or music.) Mary Lewis is being tested for the feminine lead.

Friml's conception of Cyrano should be panned, but I don't know. So should the Tibbett voice, which has that splendid freedom and virile quality that makes the gallery tremble and the critics sit up and take notice.

What I've had practice to establish. There is a little Spanish boy who begins to collect money for their wares? A good many movie stars who once offered to God were a time and a place for everything. The time to pay merchants is when they sue. The place to keep their bills meantime is in the wastebasket.

And all the time I was thinking I was listening to human beings! Well—well—the joke's certainly on me.

Adolphe Menjou refuses clothes offered him by leading ready-to-wear and tailor concerns the world over in order to have his own tailor make his clothes. And "he pays for them," says his studio.

Mississippi Praises Atlanta Hospitality During N. E. A. Meeting

Praise for "Atlanta's wonderful hospitality" shown during the recent National Education Association's convention here, was forthcoming Monday in a letter addressed to Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of public schools and vice president of the N. E. A., from H. V. Cooper, state director of education for Mississippi. "The whole south is proud of you because you sold our section to the whole nation. Through Atlanta's generosity the world was permitted to see southern hospitality at its best," the letter states. Special tribute was paid on behalf of the Mississippi teachers to the parents, teachers and patrons of the Slaton school, which served as Mississippi's hostess school.

Alabama Newspaper Dean Visits Assembly Sessions

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

One of the deans of the newspaper business in the south, C. M. Stanley, editor of the Alabama State Journal, of Montgomery, was a visitor at the legislative session Monday. He was given the privilege of the floor of both houses in resolutions introduced in those bodies.

Stanley has been the tutor of many newspapermen in the south, some of them serving now in Atlanta. Among his former associates in the Atlanta field are Fuzzy Woodruff, Tarleton Collier, Hugh W. Roberts and Angus A. Acree.

For many years Mr. Stanley was managing editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald and in this position he was associated with some of the leading newspapermen of the country. Many of the men who graduated under him in the newspaper business now occupy prominent positions as editors, novelists, poets and playwrights. He has been in Asheville, N. C., where he attended the session of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Congressman Sam Rutherford, of Forsyth, was a visitor at the capitol Monday and called on many friends in the two branches of the legislature. Prior to his election as congressman Mr. Rutherford was a member of the house, representing Monroe county.

At present the congressman is in the legislature enjoining the work of the United States Veterans' bureau in Georgia. He has asked that additional men be named to help prepare war claims for Georgia veterans.

Representative R. L. McLain, of Pickens county, will introduce a resolution in the legislature which will give the official sanction of the state to the erection of a monument on Grassy mountain, in Pickens county, in honor of General James Oglethorpe.

Col. Sam Tate, of Tate, has agreed to erect a marble shaft on top of the mountain at his own expense. The name of the mountain will be changed to "Mount Oglethorpe."

It is planned to unveil the monument in October with appropriate ceremonies. A delegation of members of the legislature will be named to represent the general assembly. The unveiling will be three days after the session of the legislature, which will be held in October.

Georgia needs seven judges on the supreme court bench, in the opinion of Representative W. L. Geer, of Miller county, who will introduce a bill in the legislature Tuesday making such provision.

At present there are many decisions of the supreme court that are affirmed by operation of law although three of the judges vote against affirmation while three vote for it, he said. "The court should either contain five or seven members. I do not favor cutting down the number of judges, hence have prepared a bill which will provide for an additional justice. Then there will be no need for any divided verdicts."

One of the old landmarks of the legislative halls, Herman Milner, of Wilkes county, was a visitor at the capitol Monday. Mr. Milner was a member of the legislature for many years and served as vice chairman of the rules committee during his last term. He was the author of the bill which provided for a 10 per cent tax on cigars and cigarettes in Georgia and also sponsored other important legislation.

Frank Hooper, former member of the Fulton delegation in the house, was a visitor Monday. He is now engaged in his law business in Atlanta.

Griffin, Ga., July 8.—(P)—A receiver was appointed today for the Griffin Manufacturing Company, oldest mill in this city. Liabilities were listed at $614,000 with "quick" assets at $551,000.

The mill buildings, equipment, etc., are valued at $1,250,000. Common stock amounted to half a million shares and preferred stock three hundred thousand shares. John H. Cheatham, president of the Georgia Kincaid mills, was named receiver.

Several concerns have entered bids for the mill, and directors agreed to receivership proceedings, believing that sale of the plant could be best handled with a receiver in charge. Many thousands of dollars worth of goods are in the process of manufacture, and there will be no halt in operations. The mill manufactures seat cover material and colored fabric.

SAFE IS ENTERED,

FOILS BURGLARS

Police Monday night were tracking down clues left behind by yegmen who failed in an attempt to penetrate the cash box of the steel safe at the Western Automobile Supply Company, 187 Peachtree street, some time early Monday morning or Sunday night.

The attempted burglary was discovered by H. G. Thacker, retail manager, when he opened the store for business Monday morning. According to the details given police, the yeggs risked detection when first blasting through the big cabinet safe in full view of the street. Subsequently a 500-pound steel strong box was loosened from its concrete base inside the cabinet safe through exploding charges of nitroglycerin. The heavy strong-box then was moved down a flight of stairs to the rear of the store, where the burglars apparently were frightened away.

For the third time within a week Atlanta's veteran fire chief, William B. Cody, today will celebrate an anniversary. This time it is his seventy-first birthday. Saturday it was the fifty-first anniversary of his appointment in the ranks of Atlanta's firefighters and two days before that it was the fourteenth anniversary of his appointment as chief.

Despite his more than three score and ten years Chief Cody is well able to undertake the strenuous task of celebrating three noteworthy events within a week. Monday he proved it to the satisfaction of his men and a few friends by using a brisk jig at the headquarters station. But day in and day out he proves it even more conclusively by being on hand as his men suffer a alarm.

Even though the blaze be a small one the chief is almost always there, vigorous and keen-eyed, putting the wisdom gained through half a century of fire-fighting into the direction of his men's efforts.

NEW ZONING MEASURE FAVORED FOR FULTON

Commissioners Also Approve
Plan To Establish Fire District.

Approval of a constitutional amendment to give Fulton county zoning authority and a bill to provide for sewer and sanitary service and fire districts in Fulton county was voiced Monday afternoon by the Fulton commission following consideration of proposed legislative measures drawn by Charles Shelton, county attorney.

The commission also approved a county employee pension bill, and while it did not act on a bill to provide for a new registration system, the commissioners indicated that they would favor an annual registration system in place of the permanent registration system.

The sewer, sanitary and fire district measure would provide for the cost of improvements to be paid by taxes on property in the districts. The zoning law as approved by the commission would apply to Fulton, Chatham and Glynn counties, it having been stated that the latter two counties also desire a zoning law.

The pension bill would provide for retirement on pension of employees after 25 years of service, and for employees to be paid an amount not to exceed 50 per cent of their salaries during illness or disability. The bill would not apply to officers elected by the people, or their deputies or assistants.

The commission will meet again Wednesday afternoon, at which time the salary reduction question will be considered.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR GRIFFIN MILL, OLDEST IN CITY

Griffin, Ga., July 8.—(P)—A receiver was appointed today for the Griffin Manufacturing Company, oldest mill in this city. Liabilities were listed at $614,000 with "quick" assets at $551,000.

The mill buildings, equipment, etc., are valued at $1,250,000. Common stock amounted to half a million shares and preferred stock three hundred thousand shares. John H. Cheatham, president of the Georgia Kincaid mills, was named receiver.

Several concerns have entered bids for the mill, and directors agreed to receivership proceedings, believing that sale of the plant could be best handled with a receiver in charge.

Many thousands of dollars worth of goods are in the process of manufacture, and there will be no halt in operations. The mill manufactures seat cover material and colored fabric.

SAFE IS ENTERED,

FOILS BURGLARS

Police Monday night were tracking down clues left behind by yegmen who failed in an attempt to penetrate the cash box of the steel safe at the Western Automobile Supply Company, 187 Peachtree street, some time early Monday morning or Sunday night.

The attempted burglary was discovered by H. G. Thacker, retail manager, when he opened the store for business Monday morning. According to the details given police, the yeggs risked detection when first blasting through the big cabinet safe in full view of the street. Subsequently a 500-pound steel strong box was loosened from its concrete base inside the cabinet safe through exploding charges of nitroglycerin. The heavy strong-box then was moved down a flight of stairs to the rear of the store, where the burglars apparently were frightened away.

For the third time within a week Atlanta's veteran fire chief, William B. Cody, today will celebrate an anniversary. This time it is his seventy-first birthday. Saturday it was the fifty-first anniversary of his appointment in the ranks of Atlanta's firefighters and two days before that it was the fourteenth anniversary of his appointment as chief.

Despite his more than three score and ten years Chief Cody is well able to undertake the strenuous task of celebrating three noteworthy events within a week. Monday he proved it to the satisfaction of his men and a few friends by using a brisk jig at the headquarters station. But day in and day out he proves it even more conclusively by being on hand as his men suffer a alarm.

Even though the blaze be a small one the chief is almost always there, vigorous and keen-eyed, putting the wisdom gained through half a century of fire-fighting into the direction of his men's efforts.

PLANE-TRAIN ROUTE TO PACIFIC OPENS

Lindy Pilots Eastward Ship; Both Services Reach Points on Time.

Winslow, Ariz., July 8.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, piloting the first plane in its eastward flight over the Transcontinental Air Transport Lines, brought the 12-passenger ship down upon the local airport three minutes ahead of time in a heavy sand and rainstorm.

The plane, containing nine passengers, left for Clovis, N. M., a few minutes after landing here. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh remained in Winslow and are staying at a hotel.

Tuesday they will return in another plane to Los Angeles, with the colonel at the controls.

Mwaynoka, Okla., July 8.—(AP)—Running a little behind schedule, the two westbound planes of the Transcontinental Air Transport Company, of whose technical committee Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is chairman, completed half of the coast-to-coast journey when they arrived here tonight at 6:12 o'clock, Central standard time.

The score of passengers that filled the two tri-motored planes left the Pennsylvania terminal in New York city by train last night. They took to the air at Columbus, Ohio, this morning, and the 938-mile plane journey from that city took not quite 11 hours, including stops at Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City and Wichita.

On landing here the passengers, five of whom were women, had several hours to while away before starting the second rail link of their journey to Clovis, N. M., on the Santa Fe. They were scheduled to leave Waynoka at 11 p. m., for the 310-mile overnight ride.

WILLIAMS, YANCEY ON WAY TO ROME

bound craft over the first 120 miles of its course.

Landing at the Gloucester, Mass., coast guard base about 3 p. m., after his plane, out of fuel, had been forced to land near the Boston lightship, McKee reported that when last seen the Pathfinder was "going strong."

Williams was piloting the plane at a speed of 110 to 115 miles per hour—virtually maximum speed—and the Pathfinder was "going strong," according to the coast guard lieutenant. There were strong southwest winds and the sea was a bit choppy.

ROME INTERESTED IN WILLIAMS' ATTEMPT.

Rome, July 8.—(United News)—Rome watched with considerable interest tonight the reports on the American flyers in the airplane Pathfinder, en route here. Preparations have been made for a receiving reception for them and arrangements are complete to permit them to land at any one of the three flying fields near the capital.

It was said the commercial airport of Litoria would be best for the landing but the Genoa and Ciampino military airports will grant special permission for the civilian flyers from America to land.

If the Pathfinder is obliged to land at either of these military fields, it later will be taken to Litoria field.

Reykjavik, Iceland, July 8.—(AP)—Captain Albin Ahrensberg, Swedish flyer who is attempting to make the trans-Atlantic flight from Stockholm to New York in several jumps, was ready tonight to take off tomorrow morning for Iqviut, Greenland, the next leg of his flight.

A new Junkers motor, shipped from Germany, has been mounted by expert mechanics on Captain Ahrensberg's airplane and ran smoothly in tests today. A breakdown in his previous motor caused the Swedish flyer to fall in four attempts to get away to Greenland early in June.

SCHOOL TEXTBOOK BATTLE SEEN TODAY

Fight on the floor of the board of education at its regular monthly meeting this afternoon over adoption of recommendations of the school book committee of that body, which is headed by Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, commissioner from the school board.

Despite the fact that the total number of different text books for the elementary grades was reduced to 207, several new ones were recommended over the protest of Mrs. Nelson, who contended that the children could not master the texts in so short a time.

Rejection of a series of readers, "Open Road to Reading," in favor of "Good Reading" series, is expected to be the most important action of the board session.

The latter series costs about 33-1-3 per cent more than the rejected books, it was pointed out. Mrs. Nelson urged an increase in the series because of the economy and also because most of the writers are southerners or of treat of southern subjects.

It also was pointed out that it had been adopted by Texas and Louisiana and is in use in 200 Georgia towns.

The committee also voted to buy a book for the kindergarten series, placing four volumes in each school, although the supervisor of kindergartens had indicated that it was not needed.

In another instance the committee voted to provide a manual of music, one going to each school, although the supervisor of music stated it was not necessary.

Other routine matters also will be considered.

London, July 8.—(AP)—The British public, fresh from yesterday's thanksgiving services for the recovered health of King George, relaxed into a state of anxiety when it was learned that the king's doctors had canceled the monarch's projected trip to the summer palace of Sandringham.

The postponement was announced only three hours before the royal party was scheduled to leave London.

The public anxiety was only slightly lessened by an announcement that an X-ray examination had been carried out this afternoon and that the king's general health was good.

It was stated that the king's condition was such that he was able to take his usual walk with Queen Mary in the palace grounds.

The examination was decided upon after the king's physician, Dr. George Thompson, found that the king's condition was such that he was able to take his usual walk with Queen Mary in the palace grounds.

MISS SPAIN SAYS AMERICAN WOMEN DOMINATE MEN

Teneriffe, Canary Islands, July 8.—(AP)—Senorita Rosario Velazquez, who was "Miss Spain" at the Galveston beauty pageant, dislikes American men. They are wholly dominated by their women, who are extremely dominating," she explained here on the way home to her Madrid.

London, July 8.—(AP)—The Young plan payment scheme which is being studied by various individual industrial, business and agricultural organizations in different parts of Germany.

A number of prominent German businessmen attended today's session and the presence of the German reparations experts for the purpose of joining in the debate after the formal addresses lent added importance to the meeting.

In the opening address, Paul Rousch, president of the Rhineland-Westphalian Association declared that the carrying out of the Young plan would mean that the German people would cease to be a nation.

"The result of the Young plan coming in force," he said, "would be the immediate beginning of a frightful sale of German business and control of a great part of German industry would come into the hands of foreigners. The proposed annuity figures are unbearable by German industries and no intelligent man believes they can be paid from the export surplus."

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it occurs. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It cannot harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation: It robs your strength, hampers your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use it in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up the feverish and colds.—(adv.)

It was stated that the king's condition was such that he was able to take his usual walk with Queen Mary in the palace grounds.

EFFORT IS MADE TO SETTLE STRIKE

New Orleans, July 8.—(AP)—Action of the street car strike was transferred today from street fighting to feverish maneuvering around conference boards as efforts were made to strike a truce between the company and the strikers.

With the full pressure of virtually every civic organization in the city behind them, the city commission council today dispatched a statement from the carmen's union to the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., with the demand that the union's proposal be accepted.

The union agreed to send its men back to work if the company would immediately recognize the union and arrange for negotiations for a new working contract. In its proposal the union abandoned its demand for the arbitration of all discipline and dismissals of the men and agreed to allow the company full protection of its rights in the operation of street cars.

Public Service officials agreed to consider the proposition to its board of directors.

Pending the outcome of the parleys, the strikers rested today, not a single car being run, as reported.

The last disorder was the throwing of a bomb into the Poland street barns last night, but the explosion did little damage.

Acting on orders of the commission council, the Public Service has not attempted to operate any street cars since Friday, when two strikers were shot to death and hundreds injured in street rioting. They also have been trained from bringing in more strikers.

A trainload has been held outside of the city for several days, and another train bringing in additional strikers was halted today in Tennessee.

If the city council fails to effect a compromise, the case will be turned over to the federal court which were expected to reach New Orleans during the night.

London, July 8.—(AP)—The pre-matrimonial vicissitudes of Prince Luis de Bourbon, cousin of the king of Spain, and Mrs. Mabelle Gilman, divorced wife of an American steel operator, has taken another turn by the presence of both parties at San Remo living near each other.

Generalissimo Benito Mussolini, both sides that the projected marriage was "all off," the prince bought the villa Bellevue, located on the Corso Venezia, in Rome, Mrs. Corey yesterday and is staying at the Miramare Palace hotel in the neighborhood.

Most of the current rumor in San Remo social circles is that the couple have been reconciled and that their marriage soon will take place. Residents of San Remo are eagerly awaiting the appearance of the pair on the beach.

On June 26 Mrs. Corey issued a statement declaring that her engagement to Prince Luis was "absolutely finished." The prince's dissatisfaction over the details of the marriage settlement which the former Broadwater social circle was discussing, he was understood "he behind the break in their romance, on June 12 it was learned that Mrs. Corey had whole prospect of her business as a divorcee, but he had decided he would have to have a better alliance.)

Texarkana, Texas, July 8.—(AP)—The state chemist at Austin, today notified District Attorney R. G. Waters here that no poison was found in the viscera of Mrs. Chester Peavy, of Springfield, near here who died suddenly on June 20.

Peavy's husband, who was charged with the murder of his wife's viscera. Authorities said he will be released if the attitude of the great industrial countries, and therefore of the United States of America, deserves our special attention.

"The United States and Europe are customers of each other rather than rivals. Our American friends will admit that the United States have more to gain from the development of Europe as a customer taking nearly half the export of the United States, than to form from an increase of European competition on the markets of the world."

"The world is consuming more and more every day. There is room for all activities, so long as commercial policy is sound and constructive."

Citing the Dawes commission and the Young committee as conspicuous examples of the work done by business leaders in helping to solve difficult international problems on sound economic and financial principles, Mr. Pirelli said the chamber believed in ever higher standards of business ethics.

Hendricks, Cincinnati Boss, Lays Wilson Case Before Heydler CRACKERS TRIP BARONS IN OPENER, 8-2

HEARING ASKED ON REDS - CUB DIAMOND CASE

President Heydler Asked
To Hold Hearing by Hendricks, of Cincy.

By Alan J. Gould.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, July 8.—(AP) The feud that has apparently sprung up between the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs, as a result of incidents on and off the playing field, may wind up in President Heydler of the National League "holding court" on the whole situation.

The league's chief executive, at least, is expected to take whatever action is needed to avoid further outbreaks of the sort that led up to the fine and suspension of Hack Wilson, Chicago outfielder.

The latest development today involved a conference between President Heydler and Manager Jack Hendricks of the Reds, who called voluntarily upon the league chief in company with Pete Donohue, the Cincinnati pitcher attacked by Wilson in a railroad station at Chicago last week after episodes of violence earlier in the day upon the ball field. In his report to Heydler, Hendricks laid out the situation upon what he characterized as Wilson's "unprovoked" attack upon Donohue, an incident which the league president had been obliged to ignore previously because it happened off the field.

HEARING REQUESTED.

In pressing his charges, Hendricks requested that Mr. Heydler call a hearing, but under the league constitution, written demand for this must first come from the club owner. The president indicated he was willing to hold such a hearing if the proper request is made, and at that time pass judgment after listening to both sides of the controversy. It is the contention of the Chicago club, although it has yet made no official report, that Wilson had provoked his charge upon the Red dugout during the game at Wrigley field as well as his attack upon Donohue later.

Hendricks indicated that the Reds were aroused more by the run-in between Riggs Stephenson, Cub outfielder, and Hughey Critt, star Cincinnati second baseman, than by Wilson's actions. Stephenson, in an attempt to block a double play, cut Critt down and the Reds are temporarily without the service of their crack infielder.

WILSON SUSPENDED.

So far the suspension of Wilson for three days, a term that expires tomorrow, is the only discipline administered by President Heydler in connection with the flare-up between the two clubs. It is understood, however, that the league chief also warned Ray Kulp, Cincinnati pitcher, against "riding" opposing players, which is against the league rules. Kulp is familiar throughout the National League circuit, and it was because of his alleged "ride" that Wilson left first base to invade the hostile ranks of the Reds at Chicago.

Postal Rifle Matches Set

Members of the Georgia National Guard and the rifle teams of the American Legion and organized civilian clubs of Georgia have been invited to participate in a series of five postal matches being arranged by the state secretary of the National Rifle Association. Each association may enter as many as five teams, which are to be named before the match is fired, and no substitutions may be made after record firing for each match is begun.

One week will be allowed for matches following the opening date, and certified scores of each team member must be mailed to the state secretary at Barnesville, Ga., not later than five days following the closing date of the match.

The program follows:
JULY 13 TO 19.
10 shots, rapid fire, 300 yards.
200 yards A target.
JULY 20 TO 26.
10 shots, rapid fire, standing to sitting.
200 yards A target.
JULY 27 TO AUGUST 2.
10 shots, rapid fire, standing to prone, 300 yards A target.
200 yards A target.
JULY 27 TO AUGUST 2.
20 shots, rapid fire, standing to prone, 300 yards A target.
200 yards A target.
AUGUST 13 TO 19.
10 shots, rapid fire, standing to prone, 300 yards A target.
200 yards A target.
JULY 27 TO AUGUST 2.

Perkins To Help With 'A' Hurlers

Chicago, July 8.—(AP)—Si Perkins has come down off the Philadelphia Athletics' shelf of baseball antiques to handle the McGillicuddy moundmen while Mickey Cochrane recuperates from an injury suffered in the series at Washington. One of Cochrane's ribs was cracked by a pitched ball, although it was not at once apparent that the bone had been split.

Perkins, long an ace among the relievers in organized baseball, has not had much chance in regular games since Cochrane joined the club.

Since Cochrane has been out of the lineup the Athletics have dropped two in a row to the Chicago White Sox.

Ed Danforth

Bryan Grant is being put to the test in his first drive for the national clay court tennis championship. Since last Saturday afternoon he has been either waiting for it to quit raining or forced to halt unfinished matches because of rain.

Here he is tangled with Emmet Pare in the fourth set of their semi-final match, 11-11, and facing his third day of suspended inspiration.

When and if Bryan thumps Pare out of the way and carries enough vigor into his final match to win the title, he will have been purified in the furnace of adversity. He will be a real champion.

NEW SPORT FOR GIRLS.

Atlanta girls are about to hear of a new sport. Mrs. B. F. Beasley, of the women's division of the Y-Church Athletic Association, will organize girls leagues to play diamond ball at a meeting Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Diamond ball is indoor baseball played out of doors. It is played on a diamond smaller than a regular baseball field. Ten players participate. There are two shortstops, one between second and third and one between first and second. Regulation indoor baseball equipment is used.

The sport is new to Atlanta, I believe, but it is popular elsewhere. Forty leagues are operating in Minneapolis and St. Paul, for instance. It is a sport that appeals to girl athletes tremendously.

And many a pitcher in organized baseball will read of that extra shortstop with a sigh in his heart. How many base hits an extra shortstop would knock down these days!!

WAFFLE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The following clipping from Zipp Newman's column in the Birmingham News presages one of the greatest inter-city indoor contests of the season:

"Articles of agreement were signed Saturday bringing together Ralph McGill and Henry Pendleton at catch weights for the world's waffle championship Tuesday night. Ed Danforth, Al Doonan and Coach Alexander will be in McGill's corner with Hy Vance and Barney Ireland serving as Pendleton's seconds. Promoter Karl Landgrebe, steel magnate, stated Saturday that he had not been able to get the Waffle Kings to agree on the third man in the kitchen. It is believed that Joe Glozier will be acceptable to both parties.

Chief McGill has just finished qualifying in the newspaper golf tournament with a snappy 114, which is tantamount to golfing suicide. He will be about two flights too near the front of the procession. So he might as well indulge in cooking waffles and eating heavily of his wares; he will pass out in the first round anyhow.

FAIR ENOUGH.

The author also feels like it all is happening for the best and is prepared to weigh down his woes with a load of waffles and sink immediately on his return.

Needing a 6 for 123, he finished with an agonized 11 and the memory of that terrible final hole will hang even heavier than McGill's waffles.

And if the Crackers keep on beating Birmingham, Dr. Newman also can find surcease for his misery by surrounding a few of his candidate's delicacies and then leaping into the river.

Winning Record Set by Jockey

Chicago, July 8.—(AP)—Paul Neal, the "kid" jockey at Arlington race track, established a new riding record for the track last week by booting home 11 winners.

Memphian Leads Tennessee Shoot

Nashville, Tenn., July 8.—(AP)—Enoch Bradley, Memphis sharpshooter, "killed" 193 of the 200 pigeons released for him today and was high man on the opening day of the Tennessee state trap shoot.

More than 100 shooters from all sections of the state participated in the events. The championship event will be held tomorrow. Mrs. M. G. Morgan, of Bowling Green, Ky., and Mrs. Fred Kelly, of Gallatin, Tenn., were the only women competing today. Mrs. Tom Snowden, wife of another Memphis ace, and Mrs. Ima Hixon, of Turrell, Ark., will shoot tomorrow.

There was no spectacular shooting today and many favorites were badly off form. A high wind was believed partly responsible.

Flagstead Signs Pirate Contract

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Manager Donie Bush of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced today that he had signed Irv Flagstead, former star American league outfielder, to serve the Pirates in the capacity of a pinch hitter. Flagstead formerly played with the Boston Red Sox but went to Washington by the waiver route this season. He recently received his unconditional release from the Senators. When the other American league clubs waived on his services he became a free agent under the ten-year rule. Flagstead and Bush were teammates at Detroit a number of years ago.

GRANT, PARE PLAY 5 GAMES; RAIN STARTS

Count in Fourth Set at Indianapolis Brought
to 11-11.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 8.—(AP)—Another effort will be made tomorrow to complete the national clay court singles and doubles championships here, rain this afternoon causing further postponement.

Bryan Grant, Atlanta, and Emmet Pare, of Chicago, got to play but five games of their hard-fought fourth set of the semi-finals in the singles today when rain sent them to the clubhouse. At the time Grant held 2 to 1 set lead, and the games in the much delayed fourth set stood at 11-11. When the match was resumed today Grant had a 9 to 8 lead.

The winner of the Grant-Pare match will play J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., for the title. Hall entered the final round by defeating Berkeley Hill, Austin, Texas, last Saturday.

Bell and Louis Thalheimer, Chicago, won their second of three sets played in a quarter finals doubles match with D. K. Murray and Clifford Sutter, both of New Orleans, today before the rain chased them.

The officials hoped to start play early tomorrow and complete the tournament before nightfall. The tourney was to have ended yesterday but play was held up throughout the week by intermittent downpours.

Fuchs Indicates Offer to Howley

Boston, July 8.—(AP)—Dan Howley, disgruntled manager of the St. Louis Browns, will not have far to look for a new job if he decides to quit the American league club at the end of the season. President-Manager Emil Fuchs of the Boston Braves, today said that he would "give a great deal of consideration to the question of tendering Howley a contract to manage the Braves if the latter decided to leave St. Louis.

Fuchs refused to make any kind of a definite statement, pointing out that he did not want to be accused of tampering with another club's property.

Loughran Saves Drowning Girl

Hoosick Falls, July 8.—(United Press)—Tommy, a 12-year-old light-heavyweight champion, played a hero's role today when he rescued Herta Ehmler, niece of Hans Ehmler, from drowning. Loughran was training on the estate for the defense of his title against James J. Braddock, at Yankee stadium July 18.

After being treated for submersion and shock by Dr. George E. Smith, Miss Ehmler was completely recovered from the accident.

Loughran was playing golf nearby when he heard the cry for help. He kicked off his shoes and swam about 50 feet from the shore and rescued the girl.

Andre Routis Loses Decision

Boston, July 8.—(AP)—Young Jake Zermeno, of Lynn, gave Andre Routis, featherweight champion, a muzzed trouncing here tonight in the Boston Garden's feature, 10-round bout. Routis was completely out of the victor came in overweight.

The youngster, fighting his first important bout, stopped most of the champion's body attack by beating him to the punch with staggering pokes to the head. The champion won but two of the rounds.

Johnny Dundee Defeats Martin

New York, July 8.—(Special)—Former featherweight champion, won the decision over Cannonball Eddie Martin, former bantamweight king, in a 10-round bout at Dexter park, Brooklyn, tonight.

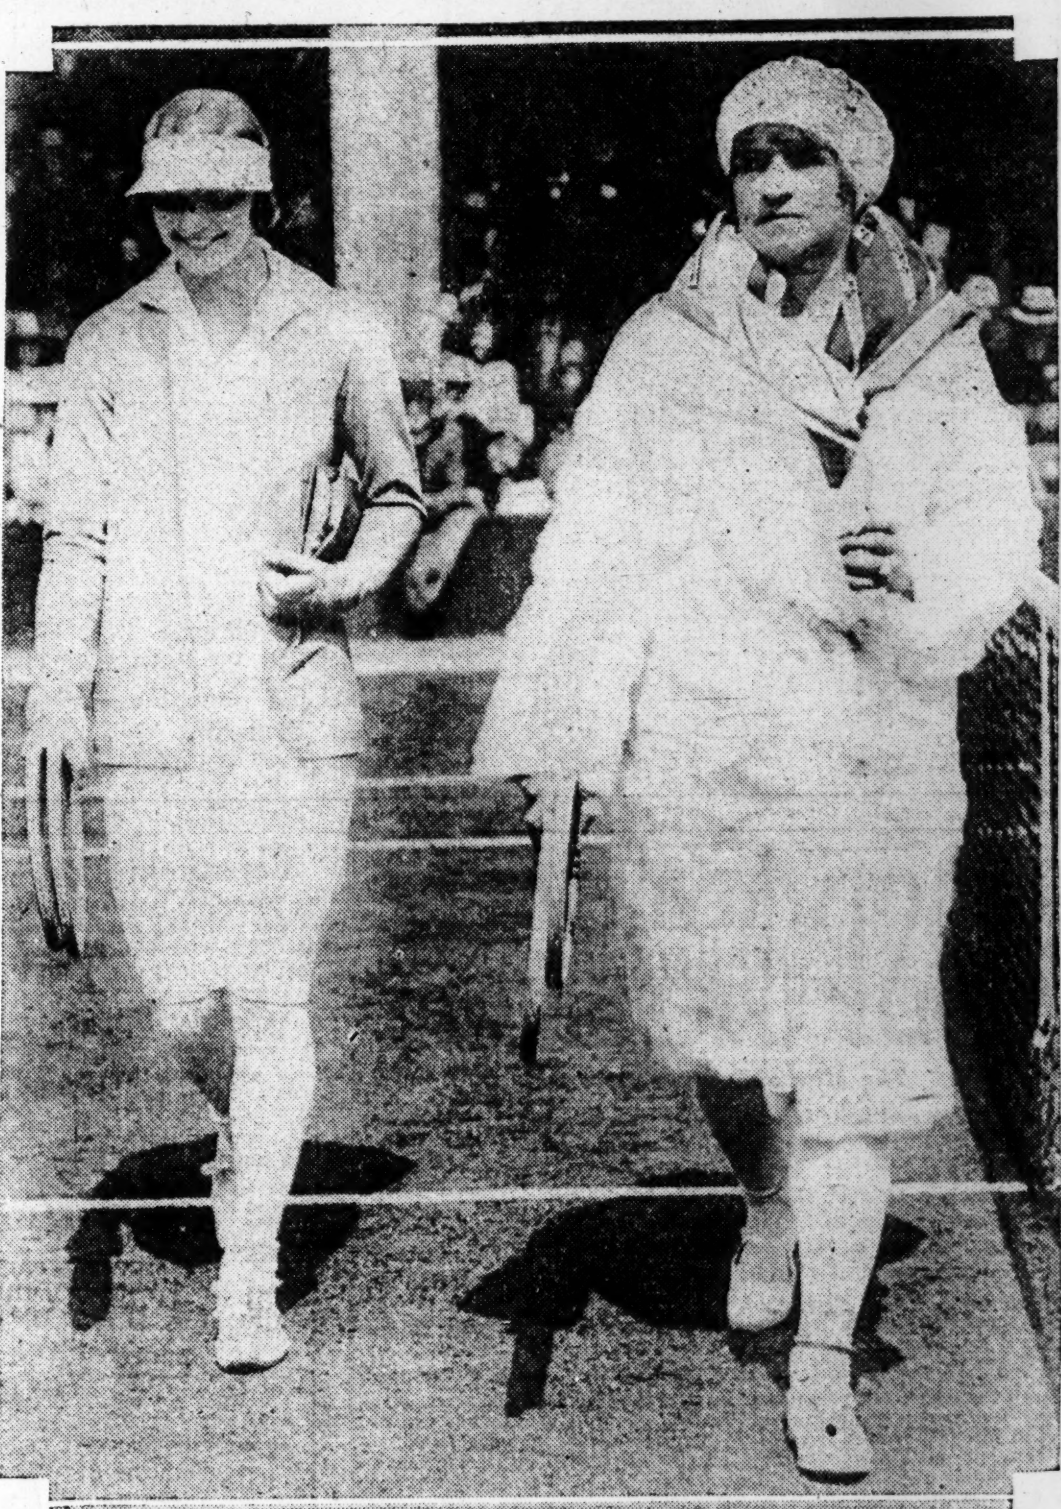

Dundee outpointed Martin by a wide margin all the way. The former bantamweight champion's rushing tactics got him nowhere in the face of Dundee's clever boxing.

Dundee weighed 129 1/2, Martin 123 1/2.

Rickey's Crop Outlook Poor

Last year the Cardinal farms, Branch Rickey's hobbies, finished either at the top or thereabouts in various leagues. This year Rochester may repeat in the International hot Western association and Laurel finished first in the first half of the Cotton States season.

What the Well-Dressed Tennis Player Wears

Here is how Miss Eileen Bennett, England's most beautiful tennis player, and Mary Sutton Bundy, the veteran American player, appeared on the courts at Wimbledon in the match which gave America both finalists—Miss Wills and Miss Jacobs, in the tournament last week. KIEFER HEADS NEWS GOLFERS

Journal Man Is Low for
First Day of Qualifying.

Hooking and slicing with regularity, two score Atlanta newspapermen qualified Monday over the nine-hole Ansley park course in the annual newspaper tournament, with scores varying from 88 to 100. Johnny Kiefer of the Atlanta Journal was low scorer Monday with 88 while several were well up around the 100 mark. Very few golfers turned in scores under 95.

Another brigade of golfers will try their shots today in the final day of qualifying, for match play is slated to start Wednesday morning.

Although only about 40 golfers qualified Monday, the entry list is expected to be near the century mark and there will be at least 13 flights filled up. The last flight may not be entirely full but it is an annual custom to have thirteen flights.

Scores were not the only testimonial of the golfing newspaper brigade for numerous cases of sunburn, and moon's caused by aching arms and necks were heard through the late afternoon and night.

N. C. Tank Meet Slated in August

Charlotte, N. C., July 8.—(Special)—Invitations have been sent to swimmers from five states, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee, to participate in the third annual mid-Atlantic open, to be held in the tank of the Myers Park Club here August 2 and 3.

Carl Link, of Charlotte; R. W. Dulin, all of Charlotte; R. W. Trapp, of Chattanooga; R. H. Berry, of Columbia; W. A. Carnes, of Greensboro; I. C. Matheny, of Richmond; and J. F. Garis, of Savannah. There will be four classes for the swimmers: Men, women, junior men and junior women, and the short race events are scheduled for the opening day.

Max Has Punch.

In 49 fights Max Schmeling has scored 31 knockouts. He has been fighting since 1924 and will be 23 years old September 28.

SECOND INNING ATTACK GIVES BLETHEN LEAD

Slagtown Sluggers Held
by Climax as Mates
Take First Game.

Birmingham, July 8.—Climax Blethen was too big a chew for the champions Monday, breezing through to an 8-to-2 victory for Atlanta. He showed the champions a line of staple tobacco they couldn't use. He let them down with one earned run on eight hits. The Crackers exploded five hits in the second and it was good Katy bar the door. Mr. Good's club looked like the championship club Monday afternoon.

Johnny Jones' double in the second, scoring three runs, buried the Barons. It put them out on a sidewalk with no shoes on their feet.

The Crackers got eleven hits, using them handsomely in the pinches. Kiefer is due to face Ray Francis in the second game of the series.

Both clubs were guilty of passing up a scoring chance in the first. Bob Hasty hit Doc Silva—where no one was able to detect. Sheehan sacrificed Silva to second. Stewart threw out Parham and Nick the Cullop struck out.

CRACKERS SCORE SIX.
The Crackers fixed Climax Blethen up with a six-run lead in the second, taking advantage of the Barons' generosity. Dick Burris led off with a single. Lopez hit to Stewart and he fumbled a chance for a double play. Hasty loaded the bases by hitting Haley. Jones went to the dry-cleaning business, sponging three Crax off the bases with a double. Sturdy's wild throw to the plate let Jones score also. Blethen beat out a hit to second. Silva singled to right and stole second and third after Sheehan filed to right. Climax scored. Cullop filed to center and Silva went to second. Hasty took his bath after pitching to Silva, the classroom being taken over by Prof. Morrell. Bob Parham lifted one of Prof. Morrell's fast balls into the negro bleachers in right in the fourth. Of course it went for a Roth special.

The Barons got over in Blethen's feed trough for a run in the fifth. Sturdy stirred a single in behind Bennett's double.

JONES CONTRIBUTES.
Johnny Jones' error cost Blethen a run in the seventh. Jones booted Yaryan's grounder and Francis went in to run for Yaryan, got in on Bennett's infield hit and a force-out single at second.

Singles by Jones and Sheehan separated by sacrifices by Blethen and Silva gave the Crackers their eighth run in the eighth. Carlos Moore was serving the batters.

There were 57 different varieties of fancy fielding in the outfield, with Cullop, Bennett and Moore pulling one circus catch after another. The trio accounted for 17 put-outs.

Mat Behemoths Grapple Tonight

Boston, July 8.—(AP)—Gus Sonnenberg and Ed "Strangler" Lewis will meet here tomorrow night in a match for the heavyweight wrestling title of the world.

As the two grapplers are tugging away, athletic commission representatives from New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois will be at the ringside as the guests of Sonnenberg, present champion. The titlist has been barred from rings in those three states because the governing bodies decreed his famous "flying tackle" hold was illegal.

Sonnenberg, to prove to their satisfaction that the hold was by far less punishing than Lewis' headlock, invited the athletic commissioners to appear at the bout as his guest, he paying all expenses.

What Does It Matter?

When Jim Braddock started training for a crack at the light-heavy title he picked out a spot where champions had trained, Tom Luther's White Sulphur Springs, near Saratoga. Both Dempsey and Tunney got in good shape there.

New Candidate.

Lawrence, Mass., has a candidate for lightweight honors in the person of Andy Callahan, winner of 34 bouts in a row.

Victory in Wimbledon Doubles Brightens U. S. Cup Hopes

JOHN VAN RYN AND ALLISON PERFORM BEST

Juvenile Pair Will Most Likely Play in Davis Doubles.

By Walter Trumbull.

New York, July 7.—The victory of Van Ryn and Allison at Wimbledon means a lot to United States tennis. It means that, in doubles at least, some youngsters are coming along who are worthy to catch the Davis cup standard from failing hands and legs and to carry it high.

The chances are that the player from New Jersey and the one from Texas will represent their country in doubles, and that possibly George Lott and William Tilden will play the singles in the matches to come.

TILDEN IN SINGLES. Tilden didn't look very well against Cochet, but Big Bill has given too much to United States tennis to be ignored, where he wishes to be considered. He has announced that this will be his last stand in the Davis cup games, and it is his right to make that stand if he so desires.

It might be better from a future standpoint to play some youngster and let him get the experience. What of it? Loyalty works both ways. Tilden has been the bulwark of the United States in Davis cup matches for many years. It would not be fitting to toss him aside, because he isn't as good as he was, if he thinks himself capable of one last victory. He may be right or wrong, but he is Big Bill Tilden, who was the greatest tennis player in the world.

The wise thing from now on would appear to be to keep Tilden off the courts as much as possible and let him store up all the strength and energy he can for the crucial moment. Lott should be close to his peak for the cup matches. He went over later than the others and needed first-class competition to play himself into shape.

LEWIS GIVES FANS PLENTY

a real Frenchman. The first fall took an hour and ten minutes.

MATCH AND DATE.

During the intermission the newspaperman drops in to see how the fight goes. "It's too hot, Ed, about this date. This guy is too tough. It will be too late."

"What time is it?" asked the big fellow.

"Ten minutes after ten," said the newspaperman.

"That's O. K.," the big fellow said. "I went back and in 10 minutes Chevrolet was unconscious on the mat and the big fellow was off to the dressing room. The date was O. K. But poor old Chevrolet had blue snots over his jaw and head the next day."

There was nothing framed up about fight. The champion entertained the public. It always seemed to be the thing to do. The fans on see good level matches between the boys who are not champions but they don't seem to like them except in spots over the map where they are, as the boys say, wrestling conscious.

SCOTTY McDUGAL.

Only now and then does the big fellow become riled. Scotty McDugall, the rough boy who wrestled several times in Atlanta, was unfortunately enough to rile the big fellow.

That was about a year ago. MacDougall went into the ring and single-handed Lewis as an opening gun.

In 11 1/2 minutes he was thrown twice. Lewis was a whirlwind of action and he tied the big Scot up like Monday's wash.

The fans didn't like it—they had come to see the champion and they got only a few minutes' action. Had Lewis carried the Scot along for an hour and a half the fans would have been sure it was a frame-up but they would have liked the match.

A woman almost had the big fellow killed once. He met a big Canadian who was quite a favorite with ladies. Especially one.

HURT HER MAN.

The Canadian was a tough boy. Especially about the noggin. He broke 19 headlocks that evening but the twentieth one left him flat and out. They worked on him for 10 minutes and he was still out. Someone said his neck must be broken and they carried him to a hospital while the girl friend wept and swore out a warrant. The Canadian was back in an hour. Police stalled off the girl until her big, tough boy friend was among those present.

The big fellow has always been on the up-and-up in the wrestling business. He is getting along. When one gets around in years and is still in athletic competition, he has it one way and the next day he doesn't. It's even bet, almost, that the big fellow regains the title tonight.

Wins at Home.

John S. Grimes, of the Rolling Road Golf Club, of Cantonville won the 1929 Maryland amateur golf title, the trophy being played on his home course.

The Mile and Other Records.

Dear Sir: Several times recently you have mentioned the possibility of a "natural mile" running a mile in four minutes flat. A study of the record books proves that such a performance is beyond the realm of reason. Back in 1886 W. G. George, the English professional, hung up a record of 4:12, and since then just two men in the world, Norman Tabor and Paavo Nurmi, have bettered that figure in outdoor competition. Through a span of 43 years, with all the thousands of mile races that have been run, just two runners have been able to cut under 4:13 under conditions that the International Federation would recognize on the record books. Add to these the five or six indoor performances between 4:12 and 4:13, and you have the sum total of the efforts of all the great milers of all time. In view of these figures, Nurmi's world record of 4:10 3/5 is an almost superhuman feat. To suggest that any one will cut ten full seconds, or even five, off this figure is taxing the imagination.

Only six modern runners have ever bettered 4:13 either indoors or out. Imagine these six—Joie Ray, Tabor, Nurmi, Ray Conger, Lloyd Hahn and Edwin Wide—lined up for a mile race on a day when each is at his peak. Your mythical four-minute miler would have to beat this sextet by nearly 100 yards!

The constant smashing of records in the field events is purely a matter of improved technique. Give the modern pole vaulter the old-style heavy pole, cut out the "jackknife" make him keep both hands still and 12 feet will be the "ceiling," as it was in 1900. Where would the hammer thrower be with the old solid wood handle, instead of the present flexible wire contraption? Mac Sweeney in 1896 high jumped 6 feet 5 1/2 inches to a record that would probably be standing today if the Californians had not invented the "roll" that is so close to a dive that it just gets by the rules. In the broad jump some genius found that he could add a foot or so to the distance by "walking in the air." And so on.

But the runners have no such tricks to turn to, and so their records improve but little and they are slowly but certainly approaching an irreducible minimum. Wendell Baker, of Harvard, and the incomparable Lon Meyers, both in their prime around 1885, ran the "quarter" under 48 seconds, without the use of the crouching start or modern scientifically built tracks. How many quarter-milers in the world today could beat them? "Maxey" Long's straight-away quarter in 47 flat has stood untouched since 1899. The half-mile mark has come down by successive fractions of a second for a total of two seconds in 34 years. Obviously another cut of two seconds during the next generation is less likely. The "hundred" even accepting Simpson's recent 9 3/5, has been clipped only two-fifths of a second since the invention of the crouching start—less than two full strides in 40 years.

To return to the four-minute mile, the only chance will be through the introduction of some stunt such as feeding the runner oxygen during the performance.

GEORGE P. MEADE.

Not Soon—Anyways.

It will be a long time before any one crowds the mile close to four minutes, but it might be remembered that in practice Nurmi has run the mile around 4:08. There were many at the Olympic games of 1924, when Nurmi was at his best, who believed he could do 4:00 if he would train for that distance.

Improved equipment and faster tracks have had something to do with many modern records beyond a doubt. Another point is that thousands are training and being trained today against the dozens of 20 years ago. Yet in many instances the improvement of records has been slight. What the human limit is for the 100, the 440 and the mile is open to debate. No human today is equipped to stand up under a 9-second clip. The same is true in regard to running the mile around four flat. As heart and lungs are now made they could never stand the strain of a 4-minute pace without collapsing or running into serious results.

"If Schmeling," writes Oldtimer, "had Jim Corbett's ambition for developing speed and skill when Jim was coming on, the German might make the greatest heavyweight of them all. For he can also punch with any of them." No fighter yet has ever used as much brains and as much hard work as Corbett did on his way up.

How To Score Every-Day Plays

There are none out. Bishop is on second and Haas on first. Cochran is at bat and he swings on the hit-and-run play and misses a third strike. Phil lips, the catcher, throws to McManus at third and the latter tags Bishop out and throws to Schube to get Haas who has overrun the bag.

What goes in the box score and summary?

ANSWER. Charge Cochran with a time at bat and credit the pitcher with a strikeout. Give Phillips a putout and an assist; give McManus a putout and an assist and give Schube a putout. Triple play—Phillips to McManus to Schube.

3-YEAR-OLDS RACE SATURDAY FOR TURF TITLE

Great Field Entered in Rich American Classic at Arlington.

By Bert Demby, United News Staff Correspondent. Chicago, July 8.—The quest for the "best three-year-old of the year" honors will center here Saturday when the $75,000 American classic is to be run at Arlington park.

The present entry list for the race contains the most representative field of the year. It includes such horses as Clyde Van Dusen, Windy City, Blue Larkspur, Dr. Freehand, Rose of Sharon, Grey Coat, Karl Eitel, and a host of others.

If the track is fast, Blue Larkspur doubtless will go to the post a favorite, and a victory for him in this race would make him the greatest money winner of the year.

WINS PLENTY.

Already Larkspur has won $93,550 and has to his credit the Belmont stakes, headline eastern race. Clyde Van Dusen and Windy City, the former the Kentucky Derby winner and the latter the victory in the American Derby here, have a chance to exceed Larkspur's winnings if either can take the classic. Clyde has won $56,419 and Windy City $51,700. Dr. Freehand's victory in the Preakness also ranks him well up among the money winners, but due to injuries received in the American Derby there are rumors that the horse may not start in the classic.

The dark horse in the race probably will be Rose of Sharon, and if sentiment here continues as at present this filly, who unquestionably has proven herself the best of the year in her class, may be one of the favorites at post time.

CONSISTENT FILLY.

There is an opinion here that none of the three-year-old colts can be depended on for consistently good showings, but the Rose has not disappointed in a single start. She has won four—Lexington, Churchill Downs, Washington Park, and La-Tonia—in convincing style. Three other good fillies which may start are Current, Lady Broadhead and Thistle Fern, but Rose appears to have these outclassed.

The race has a gross value of $75,000, of which approximately $60,000 will go to the winner. Should the victor previously have taken any one of the Kentucky Derby, American Derby or Belmont stakes an additional $10,000 will be added to the first-place money.

Another dark horse may be Folk- ing, owned by H. T. Archibald. Folk- ing's stock went up considerably after his arrival here when he turned in a fine mile workout in 1:39 4/5, indicating he is in good shape.

$600,000 Offered In Saratoga Races

Summer Meeting Will Open July 29 With Best Horses of U. S. On Hand.

New York, July 8.—(Special.)—Richard T. Wilton, president of the Saratoga race track, has announced the dates for the revivals of the 38 specials that will mark the summer racing that will begin Monday, July 29, and run through Saturday, August 31. Upward of $600,000 will be distributed among the supporting horsemen who are the leading sportsmen and sportswomen of the country.

Virtually every one who is anything in the sport will come to Saratoga in August. It is there that the leading thoroughbred producers of the country bring their best yearlings to be sold under the hammer. Six hundred budding racers probably will fetch $2,000,000 next month.

The thirty-eight stakes should gross about $300,000 and the overnight purses about $250,000. As in the past, the first day's attractions will be revivals of the Flash, a sprint of five furlongs and a half for 2-year-olds, and the Saratoga handicap, a gallop of one mile and a quarter, for 3-year-olds and up.

GETAWAY DAY FEATURES.

Getaway day features will be renewals of the Saratoga Steeplechase handicap, a gallop of two miles and a half for 4-year-olds and over; However, a dash of six furlongs and a half for 2-year-olds, and the Saratoga cup, a weight for age race of one mile and three-quarters, for 3-year-olds and over.

There will be another brilliant special, another Travers, another Alabama. These are American annuals rich in tradition. Twelve hundred thoroughly seasoned horses will be assembled at Saratoga before the end of July.

The biggest stake from the money angle will be the Hopeful, the most sportsmanlike "the Special." The Hopeful, first of the country's great produce specials for 2-year-olds, will, according to the conservative estimate of clerk of the course, Victor E. Schumburg, gross $68,450, of which the winners' share will be $58,750. Schumburg is counting on 20 starters. The best 2-year-olds of the season's racing are among the 255 colts and fillies eligible.

The Special is the most sportsmanlike of American races because it is an owners' sweep, $500 to enter and $250 to declare, to which the only contribution of the Saratoga association is a piece of plate. From its beginning in 1901 the Special has attracted only the smartest 2-year-olds of the strongest stables. Renewals of it have disclosed champions or near-champions in Irish Lad, Sysonby, Mohawk, J. L. Salviere, Colin, Sir Martin, Waldo, Novelty, Roamer, Regret, Dominant, Campfire, Sun Briar, Tryster, Morvich, St. James, Sunny Man, Hoade, Chance Short, Ariel and Blue Larkspur. Fifty-two subscribers have named 153 colts and fillies for the Special.

The Travers, Midsummer Derby, which in the last four or five years has been a $15,000 race, dates back to 1864 and is the oldest of the country's great annuals for 3-year-olds. It has three years on the Belmont and eleven on the Kentucky Derby. Only entire colts and fillies participate in its renewals.

BIGGEST UPSET.

The biggest upset in sight over the next few months prospective downfall of the world's champion Yankees in baseball. The Athletics, choice of only about 10 out of about 60 experts in the pre-season American league dope, appear well enough equipped to protect the big lead they have gained over the title-holders.

The National league race is too close to determine whether an upset may occur. However, the Pittsburgh Pirates, not so favorably regarded in the advance figuring, now have as bright prospects as either of the two pre-season favorites, Cubs and Giants.

Old Friends.

Jack Britton and Ted Lewis fought 17 times. Sam Langford and Harry Williams 14 times, and Johnny Dundee and Willie Jackson 10 times.

OUTSIDERS WIN ON COUNTRY'S MAJOR TRACKS

Only One Favorite Is First at Arlington Park.

New York, July 8.—(AP)—The long shots of the turf counted consistently today at Arlington park and Empire City—the only two major tracks operating in the country.

At Empire City the favorites counted for 50 per cent of the six races. But at Arlington park only one public choice pushed its nose under the wire a winner. Outsiders accounted for five of the seven events.

R. Caldwell's three-year-old filly, Lady Broadhead, won the fifth race, the only favorite to win at the Chicago track. She paid $3.38 for each $2 ticket. In the feature race, the Delvan for four-year-olds and up at one and one-sixteenth miles, A. Pascuma rode Otto Lehmann's Reich Olga, an outsider, to victory—a triumph that paid the son of Stureigh's backers $15.46 for a $2 investment at the mutual windows.

A. L. Alexandre's two-year-old filly, Red Rag, led the field home in the five and one-half furlong sprint at Empire City and paid 13 to 20. The third race at the New York track—another sprint for juveniles—saw J. L. Holland's Royal Casta romp home the winner to pay odds quoted at 2 to 1. La Verne Fator's brilliant ride on the Meadow stable's Please in the fifth race, accounted for the third favorite's victory at Empire.

Please was quoted at 5 to 2. Here is the list of winners at Arlington park and the prices they paid to win: Columbus, $17.06; Scotland, $6.25; Leigh Olga, $15.46; Lady Broadhead, $3.38; Sultor, $57.94; Beaumont, $11.94.

While not so impressive from the long shot side the results at Empire City made a decided leaning away from the form players. Here are the results and quoted odds: Red Rag, 12 to 20; Ceylon Prince, 7 to 2; Royal Casta, 2 to 1; Chafford, 6 to 1; Please, 5 to 2; Ninto, 7 to 1.

Holidays Over, Senate Groups Begin Long Grind

With the long Fourth of July recess behind, committees of the senate Monday began serious efforts to clear away the mass of bills introduced into the upper house since the legislature's opening 14 days ago.

No important business sessions were held by the committees on constitutional amendments and on appropriations. Organization meetings were held by half a dozen others, preparatory to consideration of bills during the early part of the week.

After lengthy debate, the committee on appropriations under Senator C. D. Redwine, chairman, voted to recommend favorably the bill of President Neill requiring that all money handled by state departments be deposited in the state treasury.

The bill would eliminate the previous exceptions made for the department of game and fish funds and for forestry funds. The measure originally provided for elimination of the exception made for the common school equalization fee, but was amended after heated discussion, so that the common schools of Georgia will continue to receive the equalization fee of one cent from the kerosene tax and one-half cent from gasoline taxes.

5 PETITIONS PASSED BY PLANNING BODY; TWO ARE HELD UP

Five of the seven petitions presented to the city planning commission at a meeting held Monday afternoon were approved, with the two others held over for further study.

Petitions seeking the following changes were granted: Fattillo Lumber Company, Barnett street, Madeira avenue and Albion avenue, from dwelling to industrial.

Both sides of Gordon street, Lawton to Hopkins, from business to apartment house, excepting the property now owned by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Nos. 891-95 Cherokee avenue from apartment house to business. East side of North Highland avenue just north of Los Angeles avenue, from dwelling to business zone.

Nos. 281-85 Sidney street, from dwelling to business. The following petitions were held for further study: Northeast corner Piedmont avenue and Westminster drive from dwelling house to apartment.

Southeast corner McLendon avenue and Sutherland drive from dwelling house to business.

MANY ATLANTA YOUTHS ENROLLED AT CAMP HIGHLAND

Many youths of Atlanta and this section are listed in the summer session of Georgia Military academy in camp formation which will complete its first week's activities today.

Featuring the program of the opening week were the dedication ceremonies for the new Ridge Crest lodge, said to be one of the most modern and elegant central camp structures to be found anywhere in the country.

The building is situated on the highest hill of the Highland Lake reservation, 2,300 feet above sea level. It contains special shower bath rooms, canteen, commandant's office, mess hall, reading room, president's office, lobby and front porch, 21 living rooms for campers and teachers, lavatories, and an observatory commanding a panoramic skyline of the North Carolina ridge.

In addition to this the camp has eight modern cottages for housing teachers and young boys and 21 cabins of rustic design providing living quarters, a mess hall and kitchen and other camping conveniences. The camp is open for inspection to visitors.

REO GOLD CROWN ENGINE

1½ to 3-Ton Speed Wagons— Will Break All Records For Continuous, Uninterrupted, Long-Lived Service In The Commercial Hauling Field

A Confident Prediction by Qualified Engineers and Transportation Specialists

Read the reasons why it is unnecessary to pay more and unwise to pay less than Speed Wagon prices.

Reo Gold Crown Engine

REGISTRATION figures on Reo Speed Wagons—compiled by a totally disinterested statistical firm—(Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation) indicate for Reo a long-life record we believe to be without parallel in the history of commercial transportation.

On July 1st, 1928, there were 96,481 Reo Speed Wagons registered in the United States. This was 4,756 more than had been sold in the U. S. during the entire 6½ years from Jan. 1, 1922 to July 1, 1928. 93.2% of all the Reo Speed Wagons sold in the U. S. the previous 7½ years were still registered July 1st, 1928. 80.3% of all the Reo Speed Wagons sold in the U. S. the previous 8½ years were still registered on July 1st, 1928. And 50.8% of all Reo trucks sold since 1913 were still registered on July 1st, 1928.

With this background of experience in building long-lived trucks, Reo engineers set about to make still more outstanding Reo's record for continuous service. The Reo Gold Crown Engine was the result!

Every engineering advancement, every new and proved development known to science, was included in the design and manufacture of this remarkable engine to make possible an entirely new and revolutionary conception of long life in commercial vehicles.

New Long Life Metals

New materials were developed for the Gold Crown Engine. Chrome Nickel Alloy Iron Cylinder Blocks (try a file on it) with seven times the endurance qualities of the conventional close-grained iron, have reduced valve grinding, wear seat wear, valve tappet adjustments and cylinder wear to a fraction of that ordinarily expected in an engine. This new material is made from an exclusive Reo formula. An utterly new type of low expansion pistons were developed which permit of much closer fit and consequently assure greater power and permanence of power. This new aluminum alloy offers greater heat conductivity and is so amazingly tough that scuffing and roughening are eliminated.

Friction Eliminated

Friction is combated with a full force-feed type lubricating system. Reo engineers eliminated all interior oil pipes with the exception of one very short leader. Oil ducts are bored through the heavily-ribbed crank case—gun drilled true.

Oil Now Cooled

Wholly new-type oil pan has been developed, with cooling fins to reduce the oil temperature from 15 degrees to 40 degrees, according to the state of atmospheric temperature. Thus oil is held at its most efficient viscosity. An oil filter cleans the oil every trip to the bearings.

The crank shaft rotates on seven replaceable bronze-backed main bearings—shimless so that accuracy in alignment is assured. The old practice of rebabbiting is eliminated and perfect alignment is possible not only at the time of manufacture, but in later service operations as well.

Throughout Speed Wagon chassis construction you will find frequent instances where Reo engineers have guarded against the human element in Service Stations by making it impossible for mechanics to be inaccurate.

The faces of the cylinder blocks are machined to perfect parallel alignment; the crank case supports for the interchangeable crank case bearings are machined in the Reo factory to absolute precision, making it possible for replacement without lengthy, expensive scraping. Thus, service work is easier, quicker, far more accurate and less expensive.

Vibration Defeated

You can't detect vibration in the Reo Gold Crown Engine. The 65¼-pound crank shaft is balanced both statically and dynamically. The fly-wheel, clutch and transmission brake drums are balanced separately. We could save money, just as many other manufacturers do, by balancing these parts as a single unit but for the benefit of the engine in years to come when parts may need replacing, Reo balances each unit separately.

Precision Built

Connecting rods are matched for weight overall and end for end. The bearing is babbitted under pressure and broached to perfect circle contour and size. To guard against variations in atmospheric temperature as held in a thermostatically controlled bath of water at 70 degrees, providing a perfect match with an amazingly low tolerance.

These refinements in manufacture and engineering largely eliminate vibration. But Reo doesn't stop with these. To take care of the slight vibration that may result from minute differences in spark plug gaps and floating flakes of carbon under a valve, a vibration damper is installed at the forward end of the crank shaft, utterly eliminating all vibration that might remain. In after years, when slight variations appear according to the attention given the engine, this damper will still check, to a noticeable extent, the slight vibration that may creep in.

Cylinders Evenly Cooled

A unique device has been developed by Reo engineers to control the temperature between cylinders to within 4 to 5 degrees. A water temperature regulator is also provided to raise the temperature automatically when needed and every 7 seconds a new supply of 6 gallons of cooled water passes through the engine. Even the fan blades are matched—and the unit balanced to a hair!

Fine Materials Finely Engineered

Throughout the engine, only materials known and proved to give the longest life are used even in the small parts. Wil-chrome heads are used on the valve lifters where they come in contact with the cams. This eliminates wear on valve lifter heads which causes a variation of valve openings and consequent vibration.

Drop forged parts are given the finest special treatment to insure perfect grain flow and consequent strength.

Outstanding Sales Success

Since the announcement of this new Reo Gold Crown Engine, a bare five months ago, its success has been instantaneous and widespread—a success probably without parallel in the 1½ to 3-ton hauling field.

'Phone or come in and one of the Reo Transportation Specialists who have helped hundreds of buyers to solve their transportation problems will aid you in solving yours. There is no obligation, of course.

Reo Speed Wagons are offered in 14 wheelbase sizes—from 115" to 179". Chassis priced from $895 to $2,200 F. O. B. Lansing. They incorporate such modern-day advantages as 4-forward speed transmission, 4-wheel, 2-shoe, internal expanding hydraulic brakes, 6 cylinder engine, 7-bearing crankshaft and many other refinements.

..... come the lovely things of this mid-summer's day...

... Many a moon has waxed and waned since that gay rebel, the page boy silhouette, danced afar from the Southern code of things... but now again the fashion moon has rounded out its course and come to rest above an olden Southern garden... drinking deep of its beauties... sending them one by one into the world of fashion, 'til today, full blown, there bursts upon our ken subtle blendings of color and of shade—a graciousness and charm—softly swaying silhouettes...

Hop Will Honor R. O. T. C. Officers At Army Service Club Friday Evening

Fort McPherson, July 8.—A scene which brings the World War vividly to mind is being depicted at Fort McPherson for officers are reporting each hour of the day for duty with the reserve officers' training corps and a perfect stream of cars carrying Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee license tags are entering the post to make their way to the headquarters of the training unit is located. Here they are replaced by the uniforms of olive drab and the reserve officers enter into the real work which has been carefully mapped out by an efficient group of regular army officers. In order that the visitors, for the summer people are always regarded as visitors as well as students, will have an enjoyable as well as a profitable stay the Fort McPherson Officers' Club will entertain at an elaborate hop at the Army Service Club in their honor Friday evening, July 12, from 9 until 12 o'clock. The wives and sweethearts of the reserve officers will be cordially invited to attend this gala affair. The receiving line will be composed of a number of the ranking officers of the post personnel and the reserve units.

The organizations represented for the summer course are the 347th infantry, the 348th infantry, the 134th brigade, dental reserve corps, quartermaster reserve corps, ordnance reserve corps, and the medical and veterinary reserve corps.

Miss Susan Hill And Mr. Simpson Are Wedded

Newnan, Ga., July 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun Meriwether Hill announce the marriage of their daughter, Susan Calhoun, to John James Simpson, of Atlanta, which was solemnized Saturday, June 8, in Anderson, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson motored to Lake Lure Inn, N. C., and after a motor trip of several days, will return to Atlanta.

The bride is a beautiful young woman and is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, leading families of the state and connected with Georgia history from its colonial days. Her sisters are Miss Rebecca Hill and Miss Sadie May Hill. She is the granddaughter on her paternal side of the late Colonel John Meriwether Hill, whose name she bears, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Powell, were also of "old" stock, and she is the great-niece of the late Dr. A. W. Calhoun and Judge Andrew Calhoun, Dr. J. E. Calhoun, of this city. For the past year the bride has made her home with her aunt, Mrs. Colquitt Carter, in this city, and has made hosts of friends in Atlanta.

Mr. Simpson is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Simpson, prominent residents of Atlanta. He is a brother of Mrs. Boyd W. Fink and a graduate of the Boys' High school, Emory university and of the Atlanta Law school, and is a member of the S. A. E. fraternity, the Delta Beta Phi law fraternity, Atlanta Athletic Club, Atlanta Lawn Tennis Club and has won several championship games. Mr. Simpson is a member of the legal department of the Atlanta Retail Company. He is a member of families who have been prominent in southeast Georgia since earliest pioneer days, and of Revolutionary and colonial lineage, he being the sixth in line to bear the name. Mr. Simpson's paternal grandparents were the late J. J. Simpson and Mrs. Frances Ann Simpson. His mother was formerly Miss Pauline Harper, daughter of James A. Harper, who for 25 years was commissioner of education of Pierce county and is a descendant of Captain James Sweet and Captain De Knowles, of the Revolutionary army.

PEANUT CROP EXTRA FINE AT THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., July 8.—(Special.)—The peanut crop in this section is reported extra fine, and the acreage is large. Not only have Thomas county farmers planted heavily, but those of the adjoining counties of Grady and Mitchell. For the past few years Mitchell county has probably gone in stronger for peanuts than any of the group of southwest Georgia counties.

A large peanut shelling plant has been erected there, in the town of Pelham, 24 miles north of here. The building is a three-story affair, and the report from Pelham is that it will require around four-score people to operate it, when it is running on full time.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

MRS. BOB SITS TIGHT.
By Thornton W. Burgess.

It courage takes to still sit tight When suffering from sudden fright.

Morning after morning Peter Rabbit visited the place where he had first found Bob and Mrs. Bob. Bob was always there with his cherry greeting. Sometimes Mrs. Bob appeared. This was always very upsetting to Peter, because each time that she did appear, she always managed to disappear, giving Peter no chance to find that hidden nest. Peter had a feeling that he was missing something, and he was missing something. You see, the Bob Whites this year had an unusually fine nest.

Mrs. Bob White had taken particular pride in the building of this nest. She had told Bob that they were going to have the best nest they had ever had and this was exactly what they did have. Of course, it was on the ground, for the Bob Whites always build on the ground. It was hidden in a tuft of grass, which was so like a number of other tufts of grass around it that it was not likely to be noticed. The nest was well hollowed out and was lined with grass and made very comfortable. It had what was almost a roof, also made of grass. This was made by bringing the grass together so as to make an arched top. You could have passed right by so close as to almost step on it and not see it at all. To make doubly sure that it would not be easily found, Mrs. Bob had taken some pains to make a covered passageway leading to it. She doesn't do this regularly, but she did it this time.

When she had slipped along that passageway and settled herself in that nestful of eggs, she had disappeared almost as completely as if the earth had opened and swallowed her. You see, the colors of her feathers were such that when she settled herself down and was motionless she seemed to be a part of her surroundings. Had you stood looking right down on her through the grass, I doubt if you would have seen a bird at all. That is, you would have seen her, but you wouldn't know that you were looking at her. So Mrs. Bob felt very safe.

"The thing I have to do is to sit tight," thought Mrs. Bob. "As long as I sit tight I don't believe any one will ever find me."

Now, it takes a great deal of courage and a great deal of will power

SEEK TO DECREASE LIMITS OF CITY

Waycross, Ga., July 8.—(Special.)—The representatives from Ware county have introduced a bill to decrease the city limits. According to the provisions of the bill the Waycross and Southern railway—which runs from the Hebardville cypress mills to the Okefenokee—will be made the boundary line.

This new boundary will place 47 families outside the city limits. It is expected that this area will be incorporated into the Hebardville school district and that the income for the school can be materially increased.

BARNESVILLE UNIT LEAVES FOR CAMP

Barnesville, July 8.—(Special.)—The Barnesville Blues of the 121st infantry, with Captain Douglas Burnette, left Barnesville at 2:30 Sunday afternoon to join the Macon, Milledgeville, Jackson, troops where they will leave for Jacksonville for encampment. These troops will be in charge of Major C. P. Graddick, of Barnesville. Major Graddick commands the first battalion of the headquarters company of the 121st infantry.

SLAIN NEW YORK ACTRESS LEAVES ESTATE OF $1,000

New York, July 8.—(AP)—An estate of less than $1,000 in personal property and several parcels of real estate of unestimated value was left by Margaret Lawrence, actress, who was shot to death in her penthouse apartment here last June 9.

The estate was revealed today when letters of administration were issued to I. Sheldon Tilney as guardian for Elizabeth and Louise Munro, daughters of the actress by a former marriage.

Miss Lawrence and Louis Benson, former stage and screen actor, were found shot to death in the actress' apartment under circumstances which led police to believe Benson had killed her and then taken his own life.

EBLE IS CHOSEN BY MELLON TO TAKE CUSTOMS OFFICE

and better" world war was expressed here tonight by Dr. Charles E. Beard, international publicist and former member of Columbia University faculty, who addressed the opening session of the Institute of Public Affairs and International Relations at the University of Georgia.

"Despite the lesson of the great war, despite the League of Nations, the Locarno pact and the Kellogg pact, the leading nations of the earth are spending now for military preparedness far more than they were on the eve of the great war," he declared.

Germany was described by Dr. Beard as rising again like an economic giant. "France, he declared, now apparently believes the German economic menace more fearful than it was in 1914."

Dr. Beard questioned whether "the solemn renunciation of war under the Kellogg pact really meant anything."

Like the Hague conference, called in 1899 by the Czar of Russia, he thought that the Kellogg pact "was signed with tongues in cheeks."

Governmental support for industries in their struggle for world markets was described by the publicist as stimulating international discord and suspicion. England, France, Russia, Italy and the United States, he added, "are all desperately active in supporting by every possible means their industries in this struggle for markets."

"If state support for commerce was a cause of the world war," Dr. Beard said, "then, according to all signs, we are headed for a big and better conflict in spite of ourselves."

Another "danger spot" was seen in the discontent of minorities "placed by the treaty of Versailles under foreign yokes."

Danger Awaits.

"In 1914 there were 54,000,000 people living under alien control," Dr. Beard declared. "Following President

SMART FEMINITY.

Smart occasions require smart clothes that show new femininity that has entered the afternoon and informal evening mode. The genuine creative lines of the model sketched in flowered chiffon is only found in Paris frocks. The one-sided rever of plain chiffon in blending tone is trimmed with alencon lace. The hips are smartly griddled with quite deep at right side and tied in bow at left side of waistline. The skirt is cut so as to keep the hipline slender with full circular flare at hem that dips at either side of front and back. The French cuffs that reach almost to elbows are edged with lace. Style No. 540 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Black chiffon is dignified. Purple chiffon is decidedly chic. Red and white printed crepe de chine with revers and cuffs of white crepe is captivating for town or resort. Printed voile, georgette crepe, handkerchief linen, and dimity appropriate. Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred.) Wrap coin carefully.

We suggest that when you send for this pattern, you enclose 10 cents additional for a copy of our Fashion Magazine. It's just filled with delightful styles, including smart ensembles and cute designs for the kiddies.

EUROPEAN TRAVELERS, BRIDAL PAIR, TO BE HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett Entertain At Bridge-Dinner at Biltmore

One of the loveliest of the mid-summer parties was the bridge-dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Bartlett entertained last evening at the Atlanta Biltmore, the affair assembling fifty members of the young married contingent.

Dinner was served at 7 o'clock on the terrace overlooking the beautiful formal gardens which provide a riot of colorful bloom at this season of the year. Gracing the center of the table was a large oval mound of Dresden shaded garden flowers, including snapdragons, delphinium, larkspur, gladioli, roses and golden glow. The place cards were clever pen and ink sketches, done by the hostess, Mrs. Bartlett. Individual fortunes for each guest were concealed in the attractive favors which were imported novelties.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett were assisted in receiving their guests by their brother and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Spencer A. Kirkland. Mrs. Bartlett was becomingly gowned in sea green chiffon, the only trimming being hands studded in rhinestones. Mrs. Kirkland's lovely costume was fashioned of black chiffon embroidered in crystal beads.

Following dinner the guests played bridge. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Earl Yancey, Dr. and Mrs. Steve Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephens, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. White, Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Kirkland, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Fielder, Dr. and Mrs. Grady Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Garner, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bankston, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Spann Milner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Callaway, Jack Woodling, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bair, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beall, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Winningham.

Nashville Visitor Is Honored.

Miss Estawein entertained at a buffet supper Sunday evening in compliment to her guest, Miss Ida Friedland, of Nashville, Tenn., inviting 40 guests to meet her. Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Friedland assisted in entertaining.

Miss Knapp Honored At Tea in Paris.

Miss Spencer Knapp, who is in Paris for an indefinite stay, was the honor guest at an informal tea last week at the Bon Marche cafe which assembled informally a group of Atlanta people. Mesdames E. W. Griffin and G. J. McMichael, who are temporary sojourners in Paris, were hostesses at the tea.

Delightful Social Affairs Feature Charming Guests

Atlanta's departing at an early date for Europe; bridal couples and visiting belles will be the reason for much entertaining today, with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gregg being central figures at Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woodruff's dinner given this evening at Brookhaven, the Capital City Country Club, and assembling 50 guests to dine and dance the happy hours away upon the picturesque terrace overlooking the lake, and to bid these popular Atlantans farewell, as they leave Thursday for St. Simon's Island to spend several days with relatives before sailing for Europe from Jacksonville, Fla. Mr. Gregg will pursue his art studies in Paris, expecting to remain abroad for the forthcoming 12 months. Another European traveler embarking upon the steamer Majestic Monday, July 15, in New York city will be Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman for whom Mrs. Edgar Paulin gives an informal tea this afternoon at her Andrews drive home, inviting a group of Mrs. Hinman's close friends to assemble at 5:30 o'clock.

Miss Clara Belle King and her fiancé, William Troy Bivings, Jr., whose marriage will be a brilliant social event of tomorrow evening, solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lanier King on Ponce de Leon avenue in Druid Hills, will, after the rehearsal, motor to Druid Hills Club, where Dr. and Mrs. William Troy Bivings, parents of the groom-to-be, will be entertained at a buffet supper, the guests to include members of the King-Bivings bridal party. Misses Barbara Poole, of Lake Forest, Ill., the guest of Miss Marion Bryan at her Peachtree road home; Miss Dorothy Pate, who is visiting Mrs. J. Houston Johnston at her home on Piedmont avenue, and Miss Emma Hills, of Plainville, Conn., the guest of Miss Ida Thomas at her Peachtree road home, will be honor guests at luncheons, bridge-teas and buffet suppers, while Miss Lillie Pace entertains at a luncheon, honoring Miss Mary Wilson Dickey, of Watertown, N. Y., who is Miss Laura Whitner's visitor.

Miss Roach And W. A. Stewart To Be Married

Ben Hill, Ga., July 8.—An outstanding event of the week and one of wide social importance throughout the state will be the marriage Wednesday evening, July 10, at 8 o'clock in the Ben Hill Methodist church at Ben Hill, Ga., of Miss Helen Margaret Roach and William Andy Stewart, both of Ben Hill.

Mrs. William Lynn Roach, the bride's mother, will be matron of honor, and the brides' maids will include Mrs. Logan King, Jr., Mrs. Samuel G. Shy, Jr., Mrs. J. William Simms and Miss Velma Jones, niece of Judge John D. Humphries. The flower girl will be little Miss Louise Askew, cousin of the bride. Ring bearers are little Tommy Roach, cousin of the bride, and Master Richard Baker, Jr.

Mr. Stewart will have for his best man, Frank Shatzer. Groomsmen are: John M. Wallace, Jr., class mate of the groom; C. W. Willis, W. M. Weight, W. E. Dillon and Theo Beam, business associates of the groom-to-be. Mrs. William Oscar Suttles will render appropriate wedding music and, preceding the ceremony Mrs. Blanche Strickland will sing. The Rev. W. M. Suttles will deliver the wedding service with the impressive ring ceremony.

Among the out-of-town guests who have arrived for the wedding are: Simon Ghermer, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. W. L. Roach, Asheville, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Rhodes, Griffin, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Harrie, Griffin, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brown, Senoia, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Roan, Sr., Senoia, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Roan, Jr., Manchester, Ga.; and Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Gill, Williamson, Georgia.

Immediately after the wedding rehearsal Tuesday evening in the M. E. church at Ben Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Baker will entertain the members of the wedding party and about fifty close friends of the bride-couple at a buffet supper at their home on Cascade road.

A miscellaneous shower was given Saturday afternoon by a host of friends of this much-feted bride-elect. At the home of Mrs. Luther J. McWilliams on Riverside drive, a contest, entitled "Menu's for the Bride," was used. Miss Roberta Patton receiving a hand-painted novelty which was presented to the bride-elect, Mrs. H. H. Wallace was winner of the first prize in the second contest.

"How much all women owe to this sanitary protection!"

Says a Woman Golfer

GOLF, tennis—the wholesome athletics women used often to forego! The girl of today enjoys them all. Kotex has given her new freedom, new comfort and a new standard of health.

Doctors and nurses have helped to teach women the importance of this new sanitary protection. They stress its soft, soothing comfort, its correct absorbency.

85% of hospitals use Kotex filler. Can you imagine any more eloquent tribute to Kotex than this? Surgeons in 85% of the hospitals in this country select Kotex filler (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) for their patients! Not only for sanitary pads, but for all surgical dressings! This is the same, identical, Kotex-made Cellucotton.

The new deodorant
To assure the utmost daintiness of person, Kotex now deodorizes by a process discovered and perfected in Kotex laboratories.

Corners cut and rounded
The fact that corners of the pad are now rounded and tapered means greater mental as well as physical comfort. This has impressed thousands of women, who write us in appreciation of its advantages.

Layers of filler are adjustable, to suit your individual requirements. The gauze, as well as the filler, is softer and gentler than ever. And Kotex is disposed of just like tissue. That fact alone has helped to change the hygienic habits of women all over the world.

Kotex Super-Size—60¢ for box of 12. Kotex Company, 180 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

Softer gauze, softer filler.

- 1—Kotex is soft... not a deceptive softness that packs into a hard chafing mass, but a fleecy, delicate, comfortable softness.
- 2—Corners rounded and tapered for inconspicuous protection.
- 3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a patented process.
- 4—Adjustable filler may be changed to suit your individual needs.
- 5—It is easily disposed of. 45¢ for 12 at drug, dry goods or department stores.

Schilling Accepts Farm Board Post Representing Dairy; Six Places Filled

Hoover Confident of Securing Representative Leaders for Two Vacant Offices.

Washington, July 8.—(P)—President Hoover's task of selecting the members of the federal farm board neared completion today with announcement that William F. Schilling, of Northfield, Minn., had accepted appointment as spokesman for the dairy industry.

Six of the board's eight places have now been filled and Mr. Hoover looks forward confidently to filling the two remaining vacancies before next Monday, at which time the board will gather at the White House for its first meeting. The post of spokesman for the dairymen was offered last week to M. S. Moscrop, secretary-treasurer of the Twin City Association, but he declined.

Board Membership. As now drawn up, the board will consist of Alexander H. Leake, of Chicago, as chairman and representative of general business; James Stone, of Lexington, Ky., as vice chairman and spokesman for the tobacco growers; and Schilling, as spokesman for the dairy industry.

As president of the Twin City Milk Producers' Association, Schilling had considerable experience with cooperative associations dealing with the production and marketing of dairy products. The post of spokesman for the dairymen was offered last week to M. S. Moscrop, secretary-treasurer of the Twin City Association, but he declined.

COL. GRAYSON SPEAKS TO SPANISH WAR VETS

Scores Idea of Referendum in National Defense Emergency.

Rome, July 8.—(P)—Colonel William L. Grayson, commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, in an address here today before the Georgia department of the veterans, declared that the "idea of a referendum in national defense emergency seems to be devoid of patriotic thought and lacking in earnest desire to protect our cherished ideals and institutions."

Colonel Grayson's remarks in this connection were his reply to efforts to have the state legislature support "proposals of those who may be unintentionally and innocently sponsoring a movement... who would destroy and lay prostrate our nation." He said the legislature's action in declining to support the "proposals" was "in keeping with the traditional defensive purpose and protective thought of the patriotic people of the great state of Georgia."

Colonel Grayson went into the record of the Spanish war veterans, saying that he "never asked anything of congress" until 20 years after the emergency in which he served. The first appeal for aid, the commander-in-chief declared, was in 1918, when "care for the widows and orphans of our comrades who had passed into the Great Beyond" was requested.

He pointed to the prevalence of disease in the camps of the army during the war with Spain, saying that the rate of disease and injury was greater to those who served in this war than in any conflict in which this country was ever engaged.

Recommending some of the conditions combated by men serving in Cuba and other localities in that war, he pointed to the "bully beef" scandal, the lack of medicine, antiquated guns and "equipment unfitted for the tropics."

Colonel Grayson declared "every man who came home at some time suffered from disease or injury caused by that service."

"If we had vocational training," he said, "our men would not now be dependent, but would have taken advantage of that opportunity and been educated in some useful pursuit at the expense of the government."

FINAL RITES HELD FOR DR. BRANDON, METHODIST LEADER

Funeral services for Dr. Frank W. Brandon, 50, well-known Methodist churchman, who died Sunday night at a local hospital, were conducted Sunday afternoon at Spring Hill chapel by Bishop Warren A. Campbell, Dr. Charles C. Jarrell, Dr. L. Russell. Following the funeral the body was taken to Birmingham, Ala., for burial there.

Campbell, Dr. Charles C. Jarrell, Dr. L. Russell. Following the funeral the body was taken to Birmingham, Ala., for burial there.

LAST HONORS PAID TO CHARLES I. RYAN

Last honors were paid late Monday afternoon to Charles I. Ryan, senior vice president of the Fourth National bank, and one of the best known and most popular financiers in the south, when hundreds of prominent citizens in business, professional and social circles of Atlanta gathered in the Sacred Heart church.

The Rev. Father M. A. Cotter was in charge of the final services.

A few remarks by the priest at the end of the impressive ritual marked the closing of the funeral services.

Then the cortege, made up of the family, the active and honorary pallbearers, chosen from among Mr. Ryan's closest friends, and an escort of more than 100 citizens, moved to the Oakland cemetery. There the beloved banker was laid to rest after Father Cotter read the burial rites and pronounced the benediction.

Death came to Mr. Ryan Saturday night at a local hospital after an illness of more than five months. He was in his 60th year.

Mr. Ryan began his connection with the Atlanta banking world in 1888, as an office boy in the old Traders' bank. He steadily rose through the posts of clerk, assistant cashier, and cashier to his high executive position.

He was prominent in the social and club world as well as in banking circles. He is survived by two sisters, Miss Ida Ryan and Mrs. Henry G. Kubert; two brothers, Mr. J. H. Ryan; a niece, Mrs. Wilmerville Peters, and a nephew, Henry G. Kubert, Jr.

Mrs. Sol Bloodworth, Former Atlanta, Dies in New Orleans

Mrs. Sol Bloodworth, former Atlanta and daughter-in-law of the late Judge J. G. Bloodworth, of this city, died Sunday at her home in New Orleans after a protracted illness. Funeral services and interment were held in New Orleans Monday.

Besides her husband, she was survived by her son, Sol Bloodworth, Jr.; three daughters, Miss Nellie Norfolk Bloodworth and Miss Frances Douglas Bloodworth, of New Orleans, and Mrs. Ewing Moore, of Dallas, Texas, and one grandchild, Sol Bloodworth III.

TWO WOMEN HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Grace Busch Suffers Broken Leg and Possible Internal Injuries.

Mrs. Grace Busch, of 215 Twelfth street, suffered a broken left leg and possible internal injuries and Miss Hattie Wilkes, of 807 Boulevard, received minor cuts and bruises late Monday afternoon when they were struck down at Broad and Walton streets by a truck operated by Andrew Hughes, negro, of Tate.

According to witnesses, Hughes was making a sharp left turn on the red light when he struck the women just as they stepped from the curb. He was arrested by Traffic Officer Wootter and Special Officer Brooks. The driver blamed faulty brakes for the accident.

Alfred Patterson, of West Palm Beach, Fla., 12-year-old nephew of Frank Reynolds, vice chairman of the police committee of city council, suffered a broken leg Monday morning when he was knocked down near Peachtree and Tenth streets by an automobile driven by Mark V. Larned, of 272 Fourteenth street.

According to witnesses the boy ran from behind a parked car directly in the path of Mrs. Larned's car, making it virtually impossible for her to stop in time to avoid hitting him. At the time of Mrs. Reynolds no case was made.

Billy Young, 12, of 1009 North avenue, was in Grady hospital Monday night with severe lacerations about the head and a possible skull fracture believed to have been received when he ran his bicycle into the rear of a truck on Ponce de Leon avenue. The boy still was in a dazed condition shortly before midnight and was unable to give a clear account of the way in which he was injured. No report had been made to police up to midnight.

HORSESHOE GAME CAUSE OF BATTLE BETWEEN BROTHERS

As the aftermath of a brothers' quarrel, B. J. Yarbrough, 17, of 278 Central avenue, is nursing a wounded head and must appear at 2:30 o'clock today to answer disorderly conduct charges, and his brother, Roy Yarbrough, 13, will have a hearing in Judge Garland Watkins' court at 10 o'clock this morning on a similar charge.

According to the police records, the two boys were playing a game of horseshoes in the rear of their home Monday afternoon when they became engaged in an altercation which led to blows.

Roy, it is said, armed himself with a horseshoe and won the battle by beating his antagonist over the head with the steel shoe, inflicting severe scalp wounds.

At about this junction Detectives Dupre and Holland arrived and took a hand in the struggle. The older boy was taken to Grady hospital and thence to police station where he was charged with disorderly conduct and released on a copy of charges. His brother was taken to the juvenile home where charges were docketed against him.

Associated Press Financial Writer.

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Bullish

operations were resumed with enthusiasm at the beginning of the new week on the stock market today, but the profit taking which cropped out late last week persisted, as call money again turned upward, reaching 9 per cent, and little buying was attracted,

total sales for the session falling to 3,522,100.

The Associated Press price indices of 50 leading industrial and 100

leading financial stocks were again

sent further into record high territory,

as a wide assortment of issues, including favorites as U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical and New York Central, were bid up to new peaks.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent and rose to 9 as banks called about

$400,000, presumably to pay off some of last week's heavy borrowings

at the Federal Reserve bank, and to meet straggling mid-year payment

checks returning for collection. Bankers indicated that the situation was entirely temporary, and predicted that definite improvement may be expected within a few days. This forecast, however, did not prevent a good demand for bankers' acceptance,

despite last week's reduction in rates,

and by the fact that time money had fallen to 1-2 per cent.

The most interesting item in the day's business news did not appear until after the close of the market,

the American Iron and Steel institute's estimate of June iron production. This was placed at 4,881,373

tons, a moderate decline from the record for May of 5,273,167 tons, considering that there were two less working days in June. The institute estimated that the decline was induced by operations estimated by the institute as averaging at 99.56 per

EDISON BROTHERS WILL OPEN ELEVEN NEW SHOE STORES

Edison Brothers Stores, Inc., chain shoe store operators with home offices in Atlanta, announced Monday that leases have been closed and plans consummated for erection of 11 more stores within the next four months, carrying out the first steps in the expansion program recently announced. This is in addition to the 21 stores which the company operates throughout the country, and will make 32 stores in operation by early fall.

The new stores are to be located in Dallas, Beaumont, San Antonio, Tulsa, Shreveport, Little Rock, Birmingham, Knoxville, Fort Worth and two in Louisville.

Sales of the company for the first six months of this year were $1,751,659.91 against $1,390,035.56 in 1928, a gain of 25.8 per cent, officials said.

DAY BY DAY IN BUSINESS

Ups and Downs in Wheat.

Though business is not prosaic, one would hardly expect it to provide thrills that compare with the gripping scenes in a popular motion picture. But the wheat market this year has been nothing less than spectacular.

If we look into the grain pit in Chicago we see only just the tip of the stage on which the wheat play is enacted; and the members there are players, for the entire cast includes farmers, millers, exporters, speculators, and elevator men.

Then again, we express the cause of price movements in a simple phrase—the supply-demand relationship; in reality it lies in a complex set of influences, including not mere conventional factors—crops, stocks, quality, tariffs, taxes, substitutes, consumption, etc.—but, in addition, men's judgment or feelings, as well as their ability to back them up with money.

A chart of daily quotations gives an interesting picture of the rapid changes caused by these forces this year. Using an active future option and ignoring minor fluctuations, we find that the price of wheat since the January low of $1.16 has been as follows: Up 15 cents, down 5 1/2 cents, up 9 cents, down 8 cents, up 6 cents, down 16 cents, down 31 cents, down 15 cents, down 7 cents, and finally up 14 cents. The last figures are for June 24. Since transactions in wheat are made in cash as small as $250 a contract, each fluctuation of 5 cents means a loss or gain of the full marginal requirement of $250.

At the time of writing, the trend is upward. The preceding decline had almost discounted the tremendous carryover. The period of crop scares has arrived, and a good one was launched in June. Such a rapid rise could easily go too far, thus necessitating a correcting reaction, but on the whole the major decline is over. A sustained rise must be based on crop reductions in several countries such as a general financial nature. Weather conditions must be watched in Canada, in particular, as absence of subnormal moisture makes frequent rains necessary.

Henry Ford's apparent intention to pay his European workmen in the currencies, measured in buying power, that he pays in America has roused wide discussion.

Since the federal government will not formally approve a program for the restriction of oil production, co-operation among the several states seems to offer the only hope.

Consumption of electrical energy by 3,000 large manufacturing plants throughout the United States indicates that a new record for production of commodities was set during May.

Important: Readers of The Constitution are invited to submit questions of a general financial nature. When practical or expedient these will be confidentially answered.

SPECIALTIES BREAK THROUGH TO SET RECORD HIGH PRICES ON CURB

Dozen Issues Share Rise In Spite Call Money Jump

New York, July 8.—(AP)—High-priced specialties furnished the fireworks in today's advance on the curb exchange. Gains ranged up to 1 1/4 points and a dozen issues in various sections of the list broke through to record high prices. The advance of call money from the 7 per cent renewal rate to 9 brought out some profit-taking in the afternoon and prices at the close were slightly under the best levels of the day.

Although good gains were registered in the utility group, attention was centered in the specialties. Aluminum Company, controlled by the Mellons, opened at 335 and climbed to 400 1/2, a record high for all time and an advance of more than 100 points in three trading sessions. Saturday this stock closed at 355. The low price for this year is 140. This company being the sole producer of aluminum in the United States is sharing in the aviation industry's expansion. Aluminum Ltd., Canadian subsidiary, ran up 25 points to a new top at 190.

The Mellon stocks had a good day as Gulf Oil, controlled by them, got up to 184 3/4 and closed at 184 1/8 for a net advance of 6 1/2. The high price for Gulf is 189 and the low price is 142 1/8. Reports have long been current in Wall Street of this company becoming the nucleus of a major grouping of oil companies. The rest of the oils were strong in the face of increased production in Oklahoma as well as California, with the prospects of a revision of crude prices downward unless a curtailment agreement is reached.

Transcontinental Air Transport, co-aircraft service across the country, moved up to a new high at 35 5/8 and closed at 32 3/4 for a net gain of 1-1/8. Fokker dropped 1 1/4 on announcement New Western Air Express, was to start a transcontinental service with Fokker planes.

United States Finishing moved up to a new high at 148 3/8 and closed at that figure for a net rally of 2 1/2.
